CIVIL SERVICE WAGE RAISES ARE APPROVED

WORKERS GRANTED $2,545,000 BY STATE BILL

Lansing, Feb. 17, (AP)—The senate today placed its approval on a $2,545,000 supplemental appropriation bill to permit pay raises for state institutional employes, but specified that none of it should go to workers drawing more than $170 a month.

The senate inserted an additional $2,700 to pay a total salary of $7,800 annually to Louis M. Nims, state revenue commissioner. Senator Earnest C. Brooks, Democrat, Holland, failed in an attempt to attach a clause that the $170 a month wage ceiling did not apply to Nims and some senators said there might be doubt as to whether Nims could draw his additional pay because of the ceiling provision.

Showdown Sought

The $170 top was proposed by Senator D. Hale Brake, Republican, Stanton, with the remark the "legislature ought to give some consideration to the fact that in the next two years we won't have all the money we can spend."

Senator Don Vander Werp, Republican, Fremont, chairman of the senate finance committee, endorsed the ceiling with the suggestion it might help to bring a showdown on the civil service commission's right to commit the legislature to higher appropriations.

Pointing out that "there is serious question" as to whether the civil service commission has assumed the legislature's "right to set salaries," Vander Werp said "this won't be settled until it goes to the supreme court so if anyone thinks he has a right to this money we can take it to the courts."

"Tampering" Claimed

The legislature may be tampering with the peoples' [illegible]" warned Senator Leonard T. Paterson, Republican, Sandusky. He said he "still" opposed civil service but recognized the voters had adopted the program.

"The figures in the bill are what civil service says has to be paid and what have we got to say about it?" Paterson asked.

Most of the items in the bill provide agencies with the funds to meet payrolls which have been upset by the commission's action in ordering a $100 a month minimum, revising maintenance schedules and shortening working hours.

The same controversy interested the house ways and means committee, whose members said they had criticized Thomas J. Wilson, civil service chief, to his face for permitting retroactive pay raises for members of the governor's staff. Wilson was represented as having "admitted he was wrong."

Doe Bill Repealed

Rep. Ellis E. Faulkner, Republican, Delton, a committee member, said he was exploring the possibility of a "friendly" suit in the supreme court to obtain an interpretation of civil service commission powers. He suggested the ways and means committeemen instigate the test suit as private citizens but the committee chairman, Rep. John P. Espie, Republican, Eagle, blew cold on the idea.

Faulkner suggested that Wilson be charged with the responsibility for having "ordered" state departments to exceed their budgets by granting pay raises. Such a step, he said, constitutes a violation of the Bishop act, which forbids any state agency to over-expend its appropriations.

The house of representatives emasculated the Gartner bill, sponsored by the Detroit housing commission, to take care of hous-

DOGGED RUSSIAN PUSH CONTINUES

Nazi Counter - Attacks Fail; Germans Slain By Thousands

BY EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Feb. 17 (AP)—The Russians claimed the initiative along the entire frozen front tonight, and said they were killing Germans by the thousands in a dogged advance which repeated German counter-attacks could not check.

Kharkov, the great steel center in the Donets basin, and Novgorod on the front below Leningrad appeared threatened by the dogged Red troops.

A German captive told the Russians that the Nazis were preparing to quit Kharkov as the hordes of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko applied steady pressure from the front and on both flanks.

The Germans hurled tanks into desperate counter-attacks, but left 1,500 frozen dead on the field. Two more villages fell before Timoshenko's men.

In the northwest, some 120 miles southeast of Leningrad, the Soviets who took Sloboda in the Starorussia district appeared to be endangering the key strong point of Novgorod.

Hard fighting Cossacks killed 2,000 more Germans before Leningrad as they pressed the Nazis' steel jaws further from the great Baltic port.

Enemy Submarines Believed At Base In Caribbean Area

BY CHANDLER DIEHL

Balboa, C. Z., Feb. 17 (AP)—The possibility that German submarines may be operating from a well-concealed base in the Caribbean area—within the Canal Zone's ring of defenses—was raised tonight by the U-boat raid off Aruba early Monday which cost the allies at least seven tankers sunk or damaged.

United States armed forces long have been exercising a most vigilant search for any enemy bases in the Caribbean and the bold Nazi thrust into the West Indies led to speculation today whether they had a refueling station in those waters.

The opinion was expressed in army circles that the attacks by two or more U-boats indicated the Germans have a base at least as close as Dakar or some other point on the West Africa coast.

It was generally believed here that the next few days may offer a clue, with much depending on possible additional forays in the Caribbean area.

Associated Press Singapore Writer Reported Missing

New York, Feb. 17, (AP)—The New York Times in a dispatch from its correspondent at Batavia, N. E. I., said today that C. Yates McDaniel, Associated Press foreign correspondent, was among those missing who had boarded boats at Singapore last week.

The last message received by the Associated Press from McDaniel was sent from Singapore at 3:45 p. m. local time, or 4:45 a. m. Eastern War Time, last Thursday. At that time McDaniel was aboard a ship in Singapore harbor awaiting clearance.

Fund Of 32 Billion Voted To Whip Axis

BY ALEX H. SINGLETON

Washington, Feb. 17, (AP)—A $32,070,901,900 arms and allied-aid appropriations bill—a historic high for spending—was passed swiftly and unanimously by the house today with the aim of smothering the axis under the weight of production unmatched in the world.

Final passage came on rollcall vote of 371 to 0 after four hours of debate.

The gigantic omnibus measure, carrying funds to finance a vast flow of munitions and construction of merchant ships at the rate of two a day, would boost the total voted for defense expenditures in 1941, 1942 and 1943 to the staggering sum of $142,000,000,000.

The measure bundled up allotments for an army of 3,600,000 men, including a 1,000,000 air force by the end of this year, and provided billions to set up a reservoir from which the nation's allied partners may draw critically-needed supplies.

It provided new funds, too, for the maritime commission to send 786 vessels down the ways this year and to construct eventually 2,877 ships at a cost of $6,704,464,056.

Blocked was an attempt to eliminate a provision authorizing transfer of $11,250,000,000—approximately half of the amount allotted to the war department—to the united nations in the form of lend-lease aid.

Justifying the huge outlay on the basis of information furnished the appropriations committee privately by high-ranking war department and army officials, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) declared that American industry already had "performed the impossible" in production. But he warned:

"The crisis is coming in the spring of 1942. Japan is consolidating its victories. In Europe [illegible] the enemy is preparing for his great push, the supreme offensive. Unless we produce material by that time sufficient to hold the front, it will be too late."

SOLONS BEATEN IN TIME CHANGE

Effort to Exempt State From War Measure Is Vetoed

Lansing, Feb. 17 (AP)—Governor Van Wagoner today vetoed the legislature's effort to exempt Michigan from "war" time, and the lawmakers accepted defeat—some of them only too willingly.

The governor, in a sharply worded veto message, observed that men in the armed forces are not worried about the time of day, and called on the legislature and citizens generally to "take a lesson from Pearl Harbor and from Singapore and pull together to win the war."

The senate, house of origin of the "slow" time measure, tabled it by a vote of 17 to 9. Sponsors of this move said it was strategic, intended to prevent any further mention of the too-hot-to-handle issue on the senate floor.

Van Wagoner was backed by thousands of letters, telegrams and other communications—including telephone calls which got him out of bed at night—protesting that for Michigan to refuse to accept war time would be unpatriotic.

Dentist, Osteopath And Chiropractor Get No New Tires

Lansing, Feb. 17 (AP)— Inasmuch as patients normally visit their offices, dentists, osteopaths and chiropractors are not elegible for new tires and tubes under rationing rules, the state rationing board said today in making public an interpretation received from office of price administration in Washington.

Physicians, surgeons, visiting nurses and farm veterinarians are allowed to purchase tires, however, provided their cars are used principally for professional services, because of their home and farm contacts, the board said.

Reversing a previous decision, the Washington bulletin declares certificates may not be issued for tires for farm implements, police cars, portable air compressors and other new vehicles delivered without tires unless special permission is granted.

Eligible persons may obtain a spare tire and tube with permission of their county rationing boards, the bulletin added.

CORN SHORTAGE CAUSES WORRY

Flakes Makers Report White Variety Now Hard to Get

East Lansing, Feb. 17, (AP)—A shortage of white corn, used almost exclusively in manufacture of corn flakes, is causing concern to the industry that made Battle Creek a breakfast table by-word.

The shortage, according to H. C. Rather, head of the farm crops department at Michigan State college, has resulted from an influx of high-yielding yellow corn hybrids into corn belt regions normally growing white corn.

Rather said the W. K. Kellogg company which uses 5,000,000 bushels of white corn annually is attempting to meet the problem by offering contracts to Michigan corn growers guaranteeing a premium of at least five cents a bushel for white corn crops and matching prevailing market premiums in excess of five cents.

Yellow corn, Rather pointed out, is unsatisfactory for manufacture of corn flakes as a cereal food.

Although the Kellogg company in the past obtained most of its corn from Illinois and Indiana, the premium guarantee is being extended to Michigan farmers only, he said. The company hopes to induce growers in the state's 13 commercial corn producing counties as well as farmers growing corn in excess of livestock feeding needs to plant white corn in preference to yellow.

DUTCH INDIES AWAIT ATTACK ON JAVA BASE

OILFIELDS WORTH 540 MILLIONS DESTROYED

BY WITT HANCOCK

Batavia, Java, N. E. I., Feb. 17 (AP)—Dutch defense forces were reported tonight fighting fiercely to stem a Japanese push from Sumatra west of this capital while Japanese airmen struck at the eastern end of this last major Indies bastion in the small Sunda island area which includes Bali, Lombok and Sumbawa.

At the same time Charles O. Van Der Plas, a member of the Netherlands Indies council, told this island's 40,000,000 people in a broadcast that "the enemy is at the gates of Java and will soon storm these gates."

"The population now is called on to meet its test," he said. "Much depends on our courage and tenacity."

Damage Slight

Dutch bombers struck at the air and sea strength of the Japanese about Palembang, the big southern Sumatran oil center seized by the invaders yesterday after Dutch demolition crews had wrecked it.

The bomb and machine-gun attacks on the small Sunda islands killed and wounded some inhabitants, but a communique said material damage was slight.

Dutch defenders, frankly disturbed both by the fall of Singapore and the failure to get reinforcements from the United States, kept a vigilant eye on the narrow Sunda strait between Java and Sumatra for expected Japanese attempts to bridge that gap.

Worried By Guerrillas

The fact that the Japanese have not yet been sighted on the near Sumatra shore indicated the invaders were busy trying to consolidate their positions around Palembang, where they were harried by Dutch guerrillas.

The Dutch pilots reported one direct hit on a Japanese transport and one near hit and one probable hit on another similar ship. Other bombers raided an airdrome occupied by the Japanese at Palembang and shot down two enemy fighters.

Here in Java the Dutch realized the attacks on the Sunda strait, only 27 miles wide at one point, might well be the preliminary to invasion of this final Indies bastion, and they knew also that the attack could come from three directions — Sumatra, Borneo and Celebes, all holding Japanese invasion bases.

Miracle May Happen

But they wanted only to meet the enemy. In the words of one naval spokesman: "Japan's power is enormous and perhaps only a miracle can save the Netherlands Indies—but miracles do sometimes happen. Even if we in the Netherlands Indies, like the men and women of London, Leningrad and

Zero Wave Warning Given In Michigan

Detroit, Feb. 17, (AP)—The U. S. weather bureau warned today of a moderate cold wave, with temperatures ranging from zero to ten above, in one of its few forecasts authorized for radio broadcast since the United States entered the war.

The weather bureau said the benefits of the broadcast probably would outweigh any possible value it might have for the enemy. Only Michigan radio stations were authorized to broadcast the warning.

Japs Put On Pressure In Bataan; Bombs Take Place Of 'Love Notes'

Washington, Feb. 17, (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur reported today that Japanese fliers who have been dropping propaganda leaflets professing great friendship for the Filipinos have now substituted bombs for pamphlets, and have killed 18 Filipino women and five children in a refugee camp behind the Bataan peninsula battle line.

Meanwhile Japanese pressure upon MacArthur's troops was steadily growing. Air activity was on the increase; artillery fire in greater volume was prominent all along the battle line. Japanese guns ashore pounded the American island fortifications in Manila bay but did them no great damage.

In Washington, it developed that Maj. Gen. R. C. Moore, the army's deputy chief of staff, had told a congressional committee that "plenty" of bombers would be sent to aid MacArthur "if we could get them there." He made this statement in response to questions during testimony on war appropriations.

"We would have had a lot of them there by this time," he said, "if we could get them there."

Telling of the bombing of the Filipino refugee camp, a war department communique said that for several days the Japs had been dropping "poorly printed leaflets" on such camps behind the lines.

"These pamphlets, in English, Spanish and Tagalog professed great friendship for the Filipinos and exhorted them to cooperate with the invaders and join the greater Asia co-prosperity sphere," the communique said.

"Yesterday bombs were substituted for pamphlets. These potent messages of death fell on the refugee camp at the defenseless village of Cabcaben. Eighteen women and five children were killed in this attack, and 13 women and nine children were wounded."

Of the actual fighting, it said:

"Heavy artillery fire from the Cavite shore bombarded our harbor fortifications with increasing intensity during most of the day. Damage to our installations and casualties were not great.

"In Bataan, the enemy is bringing up artillery reinforcements and there is increased artillery fire all along the front. Enemy air activity is increasing."

FOUR OF DUCE'S WARSHIPS AFIRE

Italian Ship Formation Pounced Upon By RAF In Mediterranean

Cairo, Egypt, Feb. 17 (AP)—Pouncing on a strong formation of Italian ships making one of their rare appearances in the central Mediterranean, RAF planes torpedoed and left aflame two cruisers and two destroyers, the British reported today.

The attack was made Sunday night at the entrance to the Ionian sea between southern Italy and Greece. The full toll was reported by participating pilots after an official announcement previously had said that two cruisers and a destroyer were torpedoed and another destroyer was probably hit.

In their own eyewitness account the pilots said four vessels definitely were set afire.

On the Libyan front, British headquarters announced that German reconnoitering detachments have withdrawn from positions in advance of the main Axis lines near Ain el Gazala, but that "considerable enemy forces" still were in the area of El Mechili. The latter lies 60 miles almost due west of Ain el Gazala and about 100 miles west of Tobruk.

RAF operations over the desert have been reinforced by the newly formed free French Escadrille Alsace.

Lines Are Reformed By British Troops For Burma Defense

BY DANIEL DE LUCE

Rangoon, Burma, Feb. 17 (AP)—British forces burrowed into new and more formidable positions today along the Bilin river, some 50 miles from the vital feeder rail line to the Burma road, and Imperial commanders were hopeful the Japanese tide could be stemmed there until a counter-blow could be organized.

The Imperial defenders were working against time for the Japanese were expected to bolster their Burmese campaign with ground and air forces released from the successful battle for Singapore.

(In London the influential and conservative Times made the statement that "provisions for defense will have to be raised" to meet a new attack on Burma and India. It added that Allied staffs in London and Washington are "now concentrated" on this problem.)

EXPLOSION KILLS 12

London, Feb. 17 (AP)—Twelve miners were killed and 30 injured today in an explosion and fire at a Yorkshire pit.

Victory At Singapore Celebrated By Tokyo

Tokyo (From Japanese Broadcasts), Feb. 17 (AP)—Millions of Japanese will celebrate the conquest of Singapore tomorrow as a body of picked troops makes a "formal entry" into the city, still burning and smoking from days of bombing and shelling.

The entry to the city where thousands of British, Australian and Indian troops are being disarmed and interned will be a military display. Japanese troops have attempted to remove some of the signs of the recent hard fighting, but warehouses and other buildings are still smouldering.

All Japanese schools will be closed tomorrow and the population will join in a program of visiting shrines, decorating warriors' graves and parading. Premier Tojo will make a nationwide radio address at noon.

The conquest of Singapore will be celebrated under the city's new name "Shonon"—selected with the approval of the emperor. It means "light of the south."

Dispatches from the fallen city said many refugees were returning and the Central railway station was packed with Malayan, Indian and British war prisoners. The docks south of the station and nearby warehouses are still burning.

Although numerous military establishments in the city were destroyed, Japanese dispatches said that many warehouses and supply depots in the city were packed with undamaged food.

Domei said warships of the Japanese navy steamed into the Singapore naval base today after the approaches had been swept free of mines.

DOVER STRAIT COUP BAD FOR GERMAN NAVY

ATLANTIC SITUATION EASED, DECLARES BRITISH CHIEF

(By The Associated Press)

London, Feb. 17—Far from being worsened, the British position in the Atlantic has in fact been "definitely eased" by the dash of important German fleet units through the Dover Strait, Winston Churchill told parliament and the allied world today in the most reassuring message of all the recent black weeks.

Appearing before commons for the first time since the fall of Singapore, the prime minister presented a side to the affair of the Dover Strait which was utterly the reverse to that which had been widely accepted as a catastrophic defeat for the royal navy.

Nothing For Critics

He was able to postpone, until such time as the current "mood of anger" had left the house, general debate on the subject of British reverses in the Orient. Although there was hostility in the house, he was cheered as he entered and departed, and he gave up nothing of consequence to his critics.

After the session a group of influential midland M. P.'s at a private meeting adopted a resolution of "unabated confidence" in the prime minister. At the same time, however, the group called Churchill's attention to "the grave feeling of unrest and doubt" in the country and urged changes to obtain "effective coordination of defense services" and reconstruction of the British cabinet to enable "entire energy and thought to be concentrated on the war effort."

Battleships Hounded

Churchill disclosed for the first time that the principal breachers of the strait—the 26,000-ton Nazi battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau—had been so heavily hit as to be out of action "for some time to come," and almost as he spoke there was evidence in other quarters that those vessels already had been brought under attack in their new shelter in the North sea.

This was suggested by an unamplified communique from the RAF reporting British raids overnight on certain unidentified ports in northwest Germany; it was supported by a German communique stating flatly that there had been a bomb attack on Helgoland Bight, the probable berth of the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau, although this attack was termed ineffectual by Berlin.

More important than all this, however, as coming from a former first lord of the admiralty and a political leader who has made it one of his chief functions to put no varnish on bad news, was Churchill's expressed view that the whole incident had been "decidedly beneficial to our war situation," however gnawing the British disappointment that the whole pack had not been killed.

Brest Best Protection

As to this, he offered not only his own opinion but that of the British admiralty, a surprise though it might be to house and public.

The main point of all, he said, was that the Germans—the Scharnhorst, the Gneisenau, the 10,000-ton cruiser Prinz Eugen and many smaller vessels—had abandoned at Brest, France, a much better position than they had gained.

He summed up:

"A threat to our convoy routes has been removed and the enemy has been driven from an advantageous position (this latter based

PEARL HARBOR 'WRECK' AFLOAT

Destroyer Shaw Makes West Coast Under Her Own Power

Honolulu, Feb. 17 (AP)— Navy officers disclosed today that the destroyer Shaw which the Japanese claimed they destroyed in the attack on Pearl Harbor last Dec. 7, has arrived safely at a west coast port under her own power.

The navy officers said the Shaw was in drydock at the time of the attack and was hit repeatedly by bombs, one of which exploded her magazines and completely wrecked the vessel's forward section.

After two months of repairs, and equipped with a stub emergency bow, the Shaw proceeded under her own power to the west coast, where she now is being reconditioned.

Dud Torpedo Kills 4 On American Soil After Aruba Raids

Willemstad, Curacao, Dutch West Indies, Feb. 17 (AP)—A German submarine inflicted the first casualties of the war on American soil today when a supposed "dud" torpedo fired in the attacks yesterday on oil tankers and refineries exploded belately on Aruba and killed four Dutchmen.

Two of the dead were officers, the others marines.

A marine and two civilian guards were injured slightly when the sharp-nosed, 18-foot missile flew to pieces as they were taking it apart.

Presumably the torpedo had missed a ship in the attack that spread flames over the Aruba area and resulted in the suspension of oil shipping from the Venezuelan mainland to these Dutch islands just off the shore.

One of the officers and the two sailors were killed outright and the other officer died soon after the "dud" exploded.

Army officers had declared the torpedo found on land was definitely of German origin.

Sabotage Suspected In Detroit Schools

Detroit, Feb. 17, (AP) — Fears that fire extinguishers in some of the city's public schools had been sabotaged were dispelled late today.

It developed that only one extinguisher had been tampered with and that, instead of a saboteur's handiwork, it probably was a prank.

School officials had asked the federal bureau of investigation to look into the matter.

At any rate, the extinguishers will be inspeced regularly, said Warren E. Bow, deputy school superintendent.

U. P. Briefs

WINS $1500 JUDGMENT

Crystal Falls—A judgment of $4,500 was handed down by Judge Bell in circuit court Saturday against Frank Plourde, Gaastra, one of three defendants in a suit brought by Elmer Grimmer, Menominee, for removal of timber from land in the Perch lake area, north of Gibbs City.

The judgment against Plourde, which was by default, was based upon an estimated value of $1,500 for the timber removed. Treble value is levied in trespass cases.

The case of D. H. Campbell against the Homer Ore company was transferred to Menominee, where it is expected to be heard before Judge Bell Tuesday. In the garnishment case of the Maxon association against John W. Duffek and his employer, the Homer company, a motion to dismiss was taken under advisement by Judge Bell. Both sides will present briefs.

ELECTRIC RATES FIXED

Marquette — Sweeping aside all objections to revision of electric light and power rates, including a petition signed by a large number of Trowbridge Park residents, the city commission last night passed an ordinance regulating the rates and conditions under which electricity will be sold by the city outside its corporate limits after March 1.

The vote for the ordinance was 3 to 1. Mayor Biegler and Commissioners Anderson and Tierney supported the measure and Commissioner McGinley voted against it. Commissioner Patrick was absent.

Under the new schedule the standard lighting rate, applicable to customers using lighting and small appliances, will be 5 cents per kilowatt hour for the first 200 KWH, 4 cents a kilowatt hour for the next 100 KWH's, 3 cents for the next 100 and 2 cents for all over 400. The minimum charge will be 50 cents per month for annual customers and $1 a month for seasonal camp customers, except where a higher minimum applies or where electric motors are used.

Under the combined lighting and heating rate, which applies to residential and non-commercial customers using an electric stove, water heater or some major electric heating device, 5 cents a kilowatt hour is charged for the first 50 kilowatt hours and 2 cents for all over 50. The minimum is $3 a month, except where a higher minimum applies according to rules. Minimum charges for camps will be made only for six months out of each year.

Joins Army

TOM RUSHTON

Lansing, Feb. 18, (AP)—Thomas J. Rushton, formerly of Escanaba, assistant attorney general, will be inducted into the army at Fort Custer tomorrow, Col. Phillip Pack of the state selective service headquarters said today.

Rushton, who is 35, married and has a three-year-old daughter, waived dependencies and signed for voluntary induction, Col. Pack said. He has been assistant to his father, Attorney General Herbert H. Rushton.

Tom Rushton was born in Manchester, Mich., and is a graduate of Escanaba high school and of the Detroit College of Law. He began the practice of law in Escanaba in 1933, and served as circuit court commissioner from 1934 to 1936. He was appointed as an assistant attorney general in 1939 under Thomas Read, while residing at Escanaba, and later moved to Lansing, continuing as an assistant after the election of Attorney General Rushton.

Munising, Feb. 17—Munising's ice show, the Liberty Revue, presented one of the top exhibitions of skating talent in the Upper Peninsula Saturday evening at the city park rink. About 2,500 people attended the performance which included the crowning of Munising's 1942 winter queen, Miss Ella Mae Cox, and performances by skaters of Munising's 1942 winter queen, Miss Ella Mae Cox, and performances by skaters from Escanaba and Newberry in addition to Munising.

Three out-of-town winter queens were guests at the gala event, the Misses Bernadine Clare, Newberry; Mary Garceau, Negaunee, and Beverly Brown, Marquette.

During the afternoon program the Lions won over the Legion crew, 12-8, in a softball game on snowshoes. It was the third year that the Lions had triumphed over the "Buddies."

Those in charge of arrangements for the three day carnival, which ended Sunday with the Munising Ski club's seventh annual tournament, expressed satisfaction over the results of their work and extended their thanks to all those who cooperated with them in the festivities.

City Of Munising Adds To Draft

Munising, Feb. 17—Three hundred new registrants of the Alger county draft board were recorded in the city of Munising during the registration for men 20 to 44 years of age which ended yesterday. Registrars in the Munising fire hall recorded 188; at the Co-Op hall, 66 and at the local board office on Saturday and Sunday, 46. All of the men were those who had not previously registered under the other two registrations.

Results of the registration in the other parts of the county were no available here yet today.

Red Cross Sewing In Need Of Buttons

Munising, Feb. 17—"A button, a button, whose got the button?" Alger county Red Cross workers hope that residents will answer the question with buttons, about 2,500 of them, for use in making garments during the next two or three months. Approximately 1,000 buttons from ½ to 1 inch in size in white and pastel colors are needed for children's clothes and the balance for adult garments.

The Junior Red Cross is cooperating in the collection of the buttons at the schools from February 18 to 25. Collection boxes will be placed in each room to receive any buttons donated and a box will also be placed in the Red Cross workroom at the city firehall. Families who have buttons to contribute are asked to give them to the children to take to school.

FUNERAL AT SLAPNECK

Munising, Feb. 17 — Funeral services were held this afternoon at the Pine Grove cemetery, Slapneck, for Ralph Lahti, year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lahti, Chatham. The Rev. Heimonen officiated at the services.

The child was born January 8, 1941, in Munising and died Saturday after being ill since birth. The body was taken to the C. F. Beaulieu funeral home here and remained there until the time of the services.

REGISTRANTS GET TESTS

Munising, Feb. 17—Twenty-three registrants from the Alger county draft board and two transfers to the Alger board from other boards will receive final type examinations at Marquette Wednesday form an army examination board. Two of the group, Floyd Nettleton and Francis Lundquist of Grand Marais, have volunteered for service and will leave immediately for the army if they successfully pass the tests by the army board. Others who are sent to Marquette Wednesday will return home and will be called later for induction into the army.

MUNISING BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carefelle and granddaughter, Therese Passinault, have returned after visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Carefelle's daughter, Rita, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wright.

Deadline for the registration of enemy aliens, those of Japanese, German and Italian nationality, is February 28 and so far only one person has registered here. Post-office authorities pointed out today that there are undoubtedly more than that in Alger county and that severe penalties can be given for failure to register.

City Patrolman John McPhee is attending the Federal Bureau of Investigation - conducted police school at Marquette.

Purchase of two school zone signs to be placed at the eastern and western approaches to the Washington school were approved at a meeting of the city commission on Monday.

Measurements For Graduation Gowns Taken At School

Escanaba high school seniors seldom have a chance, these days, to forget that they have passed the half-point of their last school year and are headed toward June days and commencement.

The seniors were measured yesterday for the robes of gray they will wear at commencement exercises. Another reminder that graduation days lie ahead is found in the steady trickle of seniors into photographic studios to have their commencement pictures taken.

Second semester plays, speech contests, dances and the annual one-day rule by seniors over the city serve as additional reminders that the second semester is well underway at the local school.

Advertise Tourneys

Placards advertising the Class B and Class C district basketball tournaments to be held here, March 12-13-14, have been printed.

Pairings for the two tournaments, Principal Edward Edick said, likely will be made at a meeting of coaches here March 9.

The Class D and Class E tournaments will be held at Rapid River on the same dates.

Member Of Local Commandery Passes Away On Tuesday

Ernest L. Anderson, a member of Escanaba Commandery 47, died late yesterday afternoon at his home in Iron Mountain, it was learned here last night.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at the Erickson Funeral home there.

Charles Hammar requests that all members of the commandery who can attend the last rites telephone him at 200 or 1794.

Eagle Scout

One of the youngest district Scouts ever to be awarded the much coveted Eagle badge, highest rank in Scouting, is Jack Danielson, 15 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Danielson, 202 S. 3rd street.

An all "A" student in the sophomore class at Escanaba high school, Jack was presented the award by H. D. Brackett, chairman of the Boy Scout advancement committee at a court of honor held here at the Junior high school Monday night.

Few Matters Up For Council Discussion At Thursday Meet

A representative of a local sign company will offer city councilmen a proposition regarding the erection of a billboard bearing the names of all the Escanaba men in military service at the council's regular meeting Thursday night.

Only one other matter is listed on the council's agenda. It is the transfer of the city's contract with the De Haas company of Marquette directly to the Pomona Pump company of Chicago. The Pomona company is manufacturing the pumps which the city will use in its new well system. The city placed its order for the Pomona pumps and had its contract with the DeHaas company, Upper Peninsula representatives of Pomona. However, since the manufacturers are guaranteeing the pump job they wanted the contract made directly with them and arrangements were made to so reassign it.

The reassignment of contract in no way delays the manufacture or delivery of pumps which will probably arrive and be set up here this spring.

Shanks-Father And Son-Register Here On Monday

While 20 year old Jack Shank registered Monday for military service at the city hall, 40-odd-year-old Sidney Shank, his father, registered at the county draft board headquarters here.

Shank is superintendent of the city's water and sewage disposal plants. His son is employed in a local department store.

They were the only father and son combination to be registered locally in the third selective service registration, draft board officials said.

Old Time Dance At Center Won't Be Held Tonight

Because it is Ash Wednesday, the first day of the Lenten season, the weekly old time dance at the city recreational center scheduled for tonight has been cancelled.

Puckelwartz Sedan Is Slightly Hurt In Mishap Tuesday

A car driven by William Puckelwartz, 117 South Third street, was slightly damaged early yesterday afternoon when it collided with a sedan driven by Miss Rose Thomas, 511 First avenue north, at the intersection of First avenue and North Sixth street.

Puckelwartz was driving east on the avenue and Miss Thomas was going north on Sixth street. She told police officers that she stopped at the arterial sign at the avenue and was about to turn right when she struck Puckelwartz' sedan. She said that her vision was obscured by a frosted windshield.

A front fender and door on the Puckelwartz' machine were damaged.

West Indies Attacked

THOSE isolationists who long contended that the western hemisphere was immune from foreign foes must have been shocked somewhat by the news of submarine attacks upon the Netherlands West Indies, where a protective United States force was recently stationed to protect the oil industry of Curacao and Aruba islands.

Curacao and Aruba are the largest and most important of the six islands of the Netherlands West Indies. Following the German attack on Holland in May, 1940, Curacao's governor proclaimed the existence of a state of war. Shortly thereafter, British and French troops were reported to have been landed in the islands to forestall any German attempts to sabotage their vast oil industry. The French forces were later withdrawn.

Curacao and Aruba produce no oil themselves. Yet they pour forth a steady stream of fuel, lubricating, diesel, and other oils, of high octane, and lesser gasolines that feed the machines of war or peace. The answer to the apparent paradox is found in the islands' three refineries, built to take advantage of the proximity of Venezuela's rich sources of oil in the Maracaibo region, about 170 miles southwest of Aruba. Two of the refineries are in the world's front rank. Aruba's giant establishment claims a record capacity of 285,000 barrels of oil a day. Another plant on Curacao runs it a close second.

With the rich oil resources of the Netherlands East Indies choked off by the Japanese blitzkrieg, the oil industry of the West Indies becomes of great importance. This is the reason why an American protective force was sent down there, and why the submarines of Japan's partner in war, Nazi Germany, are seeking their destruction. The West Indies and South America are rich prizes sought by a greedy Nazi foe, and it will take the combined efforts of British, American and Dutch navies and other Allied forces to prevent their seizure.

The loss of Singapore and the escape of three German battleships through the Dover straits are calamities for America as well as for Britain. It does no good to accuse our British allies of stupidity, for after all they were taking it on the chin for us even before the fateful Dec. 7 attack upon Pearl Harbor.

The New Deal administration has made mistakes, so have the Wheelers, the Lindberghs, and the other isolationists. We all made the error of talking and thinking peace, while the Axis planned for war, all the time imposing upon our Christian natures to its own advantage. But let us quit beefing about the past, We are now engaged in total war, and let us all start working and fighting. Only by unity of thought, purpose and action can we win.

Morale on the Home Front

CEDRIC ADAMS writes in his "In This Corner" column in the Minneapolis Tribune about certain aspects of civilian behavior in war time that are applicable to the situation right here in Escanaba.

Adams reports that foolish rumors about conditions in the military camps and other phases of our war program circulate freely in the Twin Cities. He points out that there are more than 800 subversive organizations working in the United States attempting to undermine our national morale. One enemy trick is that of splitting up our people into factions — religious, political and economic. This was used successfully in France and other nations conquered by Hitler, and when we play similarly upon prejudices here we are helping the enemy's cause.

Here are some more ofAdams' timely observations:

A unified national front is imperative these days. When a good friend thoughtlessly starts hammering away on angles that might create factions, straighten him out. Beware of peace rumors. They're definitely enemy propaganda designed to soften our war effort, create a false optimism that will cause us to let down. The experts say that any peace is a long way off. When peace comes we'll all know it. Don't anticipate it too early . . .

* * *

DON'T BE a blabber. Maybe you know service men. Naturally they're familiar with certain troop movements, certain military plans. Maybe they discuss them with you in confidence. Don't hang around some tavern and let your conversation dwell on the information that any service man may have given you. We have no idea what the spy system here is. We do know that spies are active. You don't have to go round suspecting everybody, but use your head

* * *

LAY OFF beefing. And that, means up to and including March 15. Sure your taxes are high. They'll be higher. Sure it's hard to get along without tires and sugar and new cars. We've got to gear ourselves to new sacrifices. We have to learn unselfishness. We have to learn to accept substitutes, to do without. When March 15 comes around and you have to put it on the line, do it without a whimper. Remember that thousands of our young men have sacrificed homes and jobs and friends and even lives. Those dollars of ours aren't very precious against that sort of giving . . .

* * *

IT'S PERFECTLY permissible to criticize public officials even in wartime. That is still our privilege under a democratic form of government. But be sure, always, to make your criticisms just. Don't be simply satisfying some personal whim. Don't be just a harper. Criticisms of public officials or our military leaders is valuable only if it's designed to remedy a specific situation . . .

* * *

EVERYTHING IN wartime has to give way to supplying our armed forces, he pointed out, but after that's done, the thing to do is to follow a normal life as much as possible within the limitations. A war economy generally calls for about 50 per cent of our productive capacity and supply for war purposes. It may go even higher in this war. That means that civilians must meet those demands and then take care of their own needs after that. And home front morale, he says, is vitally important. It was the home front that collapsed in Germany in 1918. We can't let that happen here . . .

Hitler's Next Move

ASSOCIATED PRESS dispatches from London report signs of preparations being made by the Nazis to strike at Turkey and the rich oil fields of the Caucasus.

Pre-fabricated barges are being assembled on the German-held Greek islands and airfields along the Turkish border in Nazi-occupied Bulgaria, Rumania and Greece are being rushed to completion. There are other activities which indicate Hitler's forces will be on the move again.

Turkey is also reported to be strengthening her defenses at a feverish pace. During the first World war, Turkey fought on Germany's side, but thus far in the second global conflict has maintained a precarious position of neutrality. Like the other countries who tried to stay neutral, however, Turkey is likely to be drawn into the war as an ally of the United Nations when Hitler feels that the time is ripe for invasion of this territory.

Only three per cent of Turkey lies in Europe, the remainder being in Asia. It is this small percentage of Turkish land in Europe which involves the nation in the turbulent affairs of the Balkans, and exposes the fate of the Turks to the three-cornered pressure battle of British, Russia and German demands.

The unsuccessful British campaign for Gallipoli during the first World War, which is Turkey-in-Europe's southernmost extension in a peninsula that dominates the entrance to the Dardanelles Straits, resulted in a dramatic night retreat when the Turks, unknown to their enemies, were practically at the end of their resistance. It is believed that history's next recording of a struggle in the area is not far distant.

Turkey's strategic fragment of Europe, now strongly fortified and garrisoned, has been called an important hazard to any overland push to the east that Axis forces may wish to make. Military experts pronounce it suited to strong defense, with short frontiers bulwarked in every direction by formidable barriers. This is one of the reasons, these experts point out, why Hitler has not already made the advance on Turkey's slice of southeast Europe.

CAN'T BE DEFENDED
(Marinette Eagle-Star)

One of the weaknesses of officers of the Wisconsin Tavern Keepers' association is the speed with which they attempt to defend the indefensible, thus creating ill will for the liquor traffic which, at best, is subjected to criticisms at almost every turn. A case in point was the statement of Matt Udovc, president of the organization, who said it wasn't fair for policemen in plain clothes to enter taverns and tempt bartenders to violate the law.

What's unfair about it? He could hardly expect the police department to telephone to this or that bartender and warn him that an officer in plain clothes was about to tempt him to cheat by selling liquor after hours or otherwise violating the law. Nor could he expect the police to confine inspections to officers in uniform so that the bartender would be forewarned. No, there is no defense of some of the violations which result in arrests, particularly those which are not of a technical nature and about which the bartenders and tavern keepers have complete knowledge. For that matter, if a bartender doesn't know the law with respect to liquor traffic he shouldn't be working at that job.

It would be refreshing, and the reaction among the public would be splendid, if officers of the tavern keepers' association refrained from statements like that made by the president of the state organization. The reaction would be still better if they plainly stated that they do not condone violations of any sort.

Lots of girls are very particular about whom they'll marry until somebody asks them.

PONTON OR PONTOON?

* * *

Several readers have remarked that the apparent interchangeability of PONTON and PONTOON in newspaper stories has confused them. "Are there two such words, and, if so, do they have separate meanings?" they ask.

Ponton is the original French word from which comes the English word pontoon. Both words have the same meaning and either may may be used correctly. It is said that the U. S. army prefers ponton. It must be noted, however, that the words are not pronounced alike. These are the correct pronunciations:

ponton: PAHN-tahn
pontoon: pahn-TOON

(Capitals indicate syllables to be accented.)

It's Hard to Believe

Schenectady: I wish to ask about the etymology of the word PATROL. It it French?—J. F. M.

Answer: The English word patrol is from the French word patrouiller which means . . . (you'd never guess) . . . "to flounder about in the mud (patauger dans la boue"! It's hard to believe that, literally, an aviator on dawn patrol should take along his rubber boots, but it's true!

Typohowler: Not a bad idea, at that. A Los Angeles newspaper reports that "The Mexican government will establish, at the seaport of Mazatlan, an interment camp for Japanese!"

Foreign News Analyzed

BY CONSTANTINE BROWN

Washington admirers and associates of Prime Minister Winston Churchill are seriously concerned over his ability to weather the storm unleashed against him throughout the United Kingdom by the escape of the German warships from Brest.

In some quarters close to the British government it is believed that while there was little doubt that Mr. Churchill would survive the Malayan and Singapore disaster — despite its colossal implications for the future of the British empire — the navy-minded British will hardly forgive their prime minister for the "blunder" of Dover Strait.

Public opinion is reported to have been even more wrought up than it appeared from government - censored press dispatches and radio broadcasts. The Dover blunder may have been the straw that broke the camel's back.

According to reports from London over the week-end, all the optimistic and reassuring statements the British prime minister has made since he took over from Neville Chamberlain are being thrown back at him in parliamentary circles. He is being bluntly reminded of the inexcusable lack of foresight which allowed the Nazis to catch the British unawares in Norway and of the bombastic statements made by the Prime Minister the next day to the Commons about the non-existent battle of the Skagerrak, in which the German fleet was said to have been annihilated.

—PROMISES NOT FULFILLED—

While the British parliamentarians and public are deeply appreciative of the prime minister's policies toward the United States and proud of the excellent impression he made in this country, they are beginning to wonder whether, from the military point of view, their fighting prime minister is not extremely unlucky in his forecasts and estimates of military situations.

Mr. Churchill now is having thrown at him also his public and private utterances regarding the certain success of the second Libyan campaign, in which far more precious American and British war material was lost than has been admitted.

Finally, Mr. Churchill is being bitterly reproached for having assured the United Nations, soon after they signed their agreement to fight Hitler, that Singapore would be saved and that support was being rushed to that most vital point of the British empire. News dispatches received the last few days in the United States and Britain give no indication that anything was sent to Singapore—besides words of praise—in an attempt to stop the Japs. The most important strategic position of the British empire has been neglected as far as manpower and especially aviation is concerned.

Mr. Churchill would have had to explain next week to an uneasy parliament—and the still more uneasy dominions—why he gave such assurances. But it was firmly believed in Washington that Mr. Churchill's oratory would have been convincing enough to satisfy both followers and opponents.

—STUNNED BY DOVER BLUNDER—

The "Dover blunder" has affected the British emotionally, however. They were stunned by developments at Singapore; but they are fiercely indignant at the fact that Nazi battleships could use Dover strait as a route home from the French port where they were blockaded for many months. For the first time in the history of Britain as a sea power enemy warships have used Dover strait without even a "by your leave."

Well-informed quarters in Washington believe the British prime minister could not last another 48 hours if the London government had another energetic leader to replace him. But as far as the situation can be judged from this side of the Atlantic, there is nobody in the United Kingdom in whom the British people could put their trust to prosecute the war unflinchingly.

This consideration saved Mr. Churchill from overthrow on one or two occasions in the past, when his followers in the Conservative party became dissatisfied with his none too realistic—even if energetic—actions. Their fear that confusion would follow resignation of the wartime prime minister induced them to vote confidence in him whenever the question was put up.

Now the situation is slightly different. There is an emotional reaction throughout the nation, and unless it can be overcome by plausible explanation it is possible the United Kingdom will be confronted with an internal political crisis at a time when the external crisis is the gravest in Britain's long history.

If Mr. Churchill, besides offering explanations, can make it clear that is is no time to change jockeys, he may yet survive the "Dover blunder."

Answers To Questions

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Escanaba Daily Press Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. How long has there been a Federal income tax? M. W. R.

A. The Federal Government adopted an income tax in 1862-72 to help finance the Civil War. The tax of 1894 was declared unconstitutional and it was not until the Sixteenth Amendment to the Constitution was ratified in 1913, that Federal taxation of personal income was made valid.

Q. Why is the word jumbo used to mean "large"? W. N. I.

A. It derives from the name of Barnum's famous elephant. Jumbo was a large male, purchased from the London Zoological Gardens where he had been used to carry children on his back.

Q. Was there really an English King who stood on a stool at his coronation? T. D. O.

A. This is said of William III. At his coronation in 1689, he stood on a stool because he was shorter in stature than his wife Mary.

Q. How many railroads enter the city of Chicago? L. D. O.

A. Forty-one railroads enter Chicago. They represent 40 per cent of the mileage in the United States.

Q. Is El Salvador the same as San Salvador? D. R.

A. It is not. El Salvador (The Saviour) is the name of the country; San Salvador (Holy Saviour) is the name of its capital city.

Q. In what book can I find Charles Dudley Warner's tribute to his cat? L. B. R.

A. "Calvin: A Study in Character," by Warner, appears in the Oxford Book of American Essays, published by the Oxford Press, 1914.

Q. Is the level of the ocean the same all over the world? M. W.

A. It is not. The water masses are affected by the gravitational pull of adjacent mountains, a huge range like the Andes producing a marked effect. Variations, however, do not exceed a few inches.

Q. In what State was the Half-Breed Tract? F. L. T.

A. The Half-Breed Tract was an area of land, now part of Iowa, lying between the Mississippi River and Des Moines River. By a treaty signed on August 4, 1824, the Sauk and Fox Indians set this tract aside for the children of mixed white and Indian parentage.

Q. Which fish contain the most iodine? S. L. M.

A. Halibut, salmon, and shellfish contain more iodine than other fish.

Q. What causes the westerly winds? S. S. O

A. In the middle latitudes there is a prevailing drift of the atmosphere from west to east. The winds that we term the westerlies tend to blow in the direction of the poles, but are deflected by the rotation of the earth on its axis.

Q. How does it happen that setting the clocks forward an hour results in saving of electricity even in winter, when the mornings are still dark? T. C.

A. There will be considerable savings in electric power because the peak load in offices and factories comes between 5 and 7 p. m.

Q. What was the title of the first novel printed in America? R. B.

A. "Pamela, or Virtue Rewarded" by Samuel Richardson, printed by Benjamin Franklin in his printing shop in 1744, was the first novel to be printed in the United States.

Q. Where is the largest tin mine in the world? U. N. N.

A. The largest tin mine in the world is located in Llallagua, Bolivia.

Q. Name the earliest Roman road. H. L. C.

A. Dr. Leicester Holland writes: "The earliest Roman road was the via Domitia running from Spain through Gallia Narbonensis to the Rhone, built probably in 118 B. C."

Q. Is it proper to wear a tuxedo to a formal wedding? W. S. A.

A. It is never correct to wear a dinner coat or tuxedo at a wedding. If the evening wedding is a formal one, the conventional attire is "tails."

Hollywood Column

Hollywood — The Algeresque true stories of Movietown have a familiar pattern, but they're always good. At least, they're always relished by the movie people who like a little drama as well as a happy conclusion to their struggles.

Take Milton Holmes, a young man who wanted to become a writer. In the screen capital, the closest he could get to important people was a job taking care of the courts at the Beverly Hills Tennis Club. While doing that, he wrote a story. But nobody would look at it—not even the tennis fiends who had been most cordial to him at the club. There was a director who'd even lend Holmes a ten-spot before paydays, but he refused to read the manuscript.

Last Friday the youngster borrowed again, commenting hopefully it might be the last time because Cary Grant had the story and had promised to read it. Next morning Holmes was called to RKO, handed a check for $20,000 for "Bundles for Freedom," and signed a writing contract at $500 a week.

RISE OF FONTAINE

There's a typical Hollywood tale behind Joan Fontaine's performance in "Suspicion" — a job of acting expected to win the Academy Award.

I was the first correspondent to interview her five years ago, after she had played a bit in "Quality Street" and had zoomed to a leading role in "Music for Madame." We talked in he office of a producer, and he and an associate interrupted from time to time with such unstinting praise and glowing predictions that I was embarrassed for the quiet, sensible girl.

They said she'd be a big star within a year, but within a year her name was anathema. "Music for Madame" was pretty bad, and so were her roles in some later B pictures. Eventually, they fired her.

When her first real triumph came in "Rebecca," you could have knocked over her former bosses with a burst of applause. In fact, they were knocked over and out of their jobs. The new regime at RKO lost no time in borrowing Miss Fontaine from David Zelznick for "Suspicion."

DESIGN FOR SUCCESS

In 1933 a young architect came to Hollywood to get into the designing end of the movie business. He couldn't even get inside a studio or arrange an interview.

About four years later, Paramount sent inquiries around the country to find the architect most capable of designing an entire new studio. The man selected was the gent mentioned above—William Pereira, of Chicago and points east. By this time he was a prominent consultant, but he welcomed the commission.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—Agricultural advisers are urging the President to veto the Guayule Rubber Act just passed by Congress giving a lush rubber bonanza to the International Rubber Company in Arizona and Southern California.

By this act the government would lease lands, materials, and guayule seedlings from the International Rubber Company for $2,000,000 and at the end of 10 years would turn them back to the private company with all the improvements; and since it takes several years for rubber plants to develop, the government presumably would turn the rubber plantations back to the private company just about the time they become a thriving and profitable business.

Even the contracts for synthetic rubber factories, being built through Jesse Jones' loans, contain safeguards for the government's future property interests.

Most interesting thing about this Guayule Act is that the bill as originally passed by the Senate went quite far in safeguarding the public's interests. It provided that the government might "purchase the land from the International Rubber Company and thus not be under obligation to return it after 10 years of improvement.

The Senate bill also provided that the government might acquire the property by condemnation instead of having a maximum figure of $2,000,000 fixed. The Senate bill also provided that lands might be acquired in any part of the Western Hemisphere, thus letting Mexico in on the deal under the Good Neighbor Policy—a country where guayule already grows. However, when certain Southwest Congressmen got through with the bill in the House, it was purged of all these protective provisions and confined the Secretary of Agriculture to leasing the land and relinquishing it after 10 years of improvement.

—WHITE HOUSE BARRIERS—

The street which separates the White House from the Treasury (East Executive Avenue) is now blocked off on account of the war. Passing this barrier, a taxical passenger remarked to the driver: "What's the matter? Don't they trust you cab drivers?"

"Oh yes, sir," replied the driver. "But they don't trust our passengers."

This particular passenger was William Vosmer, executive of Republic Steel Corporation, now with the War Production Board.

—TOM DEWEY AND USO—

Main reason for the resignation of Tom Dewey as national chairman of the United Service Organization was that he wanted to throw his full energies into campaigning for the New York governorship. However, this isn't the whole story.

Inside fact is that Dewey has been fed up with the USO job for some time, tells friends that it might prove more a liability than a help in the gubernatorial campaign.

The New York racket-buster plans to make the governorship (if he wins) a springboard to the GOP presidential nomination in 1944, and the USO chairmanship seemed like an excellent publicity sideline when he first took over. However, it hasn't worked out that way.

The USO has failed somehow to catch the public fancy, though Dewey himself has done a remarkable job raising funds. To friends, Dewey has made no secret of his dissatisfaction.

Last fall Dewey furiously served notice on the Federal Works Administration that he would demand an investigation if the FWA didn't expedite the building of recreational centers for service men. These centers are operated with USO funds and personnel.

Later the War Department took charge of construction, and things began to move—but still not fast enough for Dewey. Recently he complained to intimates:

"I'm just about fed up with the whole business. I've gone out and raised 15 million dollars and we still have a lot of it in the treasury, where it's doing no good simply because we haven't received the proper cooperation from government agencies. As head of the USO, I'd be in an embarrassing position if donors started asking questions about what happened to the money they contributed for the boys in uniform."

—MERRY-GO-ROUND—

The mysterious fire last fall at the Firestone Rubber Company's Fall River, Mass., plant destroyed enough crude rubber to have made 7,000,000 tires. Origin of the fire never has been fully determined . . . The U. S. is now producing more ammunition and shells of all kinds than ever before in the history of the country—and the amount will be tripled this year . . . If you want a handy compilation of "Immortal words of famous Americans" for speech writing or literary purposes, write Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois, for a copy of a leaflet he has prepared. He will send you one free . . . Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger, able commander of the Third Army, has instituted a series of six-week courses in tactics and leadership for all officers of company grade under his command. The special training program was launched by Krueger because of his conviction that "battles are won, in the last analysis, by the success of small unit operations".

WASHINGTON

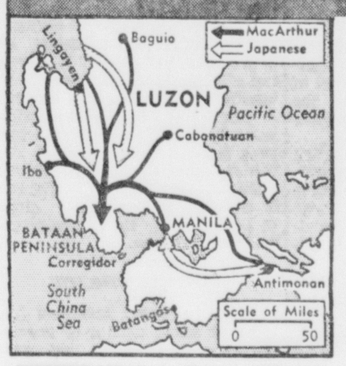
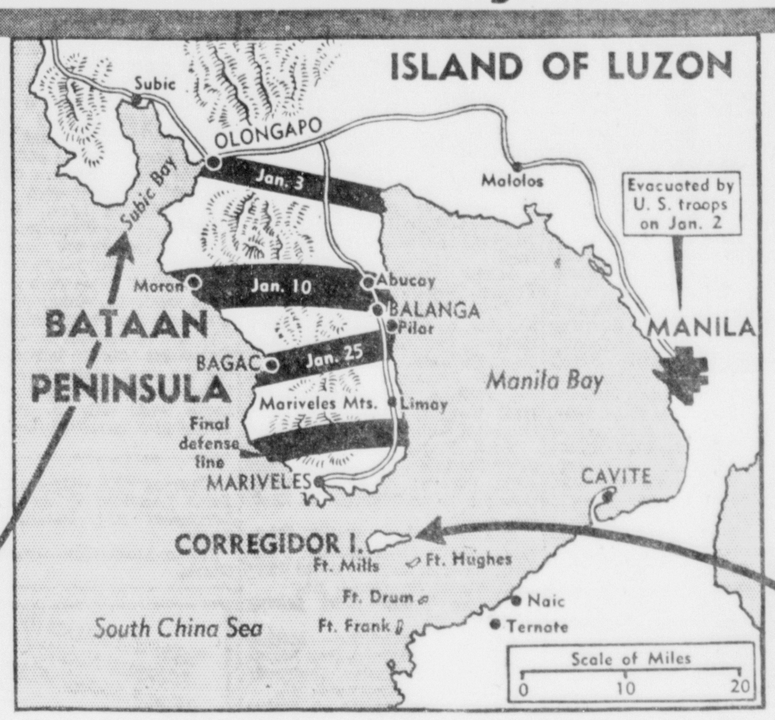
Today we hear of Washington—a most tremendous man. He was our country's greatest son, we're told with fare of fan. Not only was its greatest son, a fact that's right and true, but we are told another one—he was its father too. So here we have a paradox—chance for a little fun. To this great nation's hordes and flocks he was both dad and son. We wonder if he were alive—looked on us as his dad—he would survey this teeming hive with pride or feelings sad. Or if he took the other view and looked as parent stern at all the things we say and do, what action would we earn. Would he in kind parental way just pat us on the head, or would he o'er our misdeeds pray, and take us to the shed!

BATAAN: A New and Glorious Page for American Histories



WITHDRAWAL to Bataan followed this pattern. MacArthur, pressed by Jap landings on Luzon, retired to peninsula and Corregidor.

U. S. TORPEDO boats made two daring dashes into Subic Bay to sink Jap supply vessels, hit another enemy ship in Manila Bay raid.



ON BATAAN PENINSULA, a mountainous, jungled region half the size of Rhode Island, Gen. Douglas MacArthur has commanded American and Filipino troops in a stand rivaling any battle in U. S. history for intensity and heroism. MacArthur's men have stood off land, sea and air assaults with continued tenacity, slowly retiring toward the rocky fortress of Corregidor Island, supply and communications base protecting their rear.

BARRIER of Jap bases and seized areas ringing Bataan has kept aid from reaching Philippines' "doomed but undaunted" defenders.

GUNS of Corregidor and other U. S. forts dueled with Jap artillery across Manila Bay near Ternate, blasted barges lined up for invasion.

DEATH IN THE NIGHT came to bargeloads of Jap invaders in one of Bataan's historic encounters. MacArthur's "air force"—a solitary P-40 pursuit plane—sighted approaching barges off the west coast one night and flashed a warning. American artillery and bombs from the plane smashed and fired the barges, stopped them all short of shore. In the morning there were dead Jap soldiers and smoking ruins of barges on the beach.

"A BRAVE LOT, not afraid of death," one chronicler called the men with MacArthur. Pressed by 200,000 Japs, they have battled blitz in the jungles of Bataan with the strategy of American frontiersmen. When the enemy charged with planes, tanks, troops, U. S. forces have retired to prepared shelters in the mountain forests, only to emerge, make a stand, then counter-attack and drive the wearying foe back. Anti-aircraft units have bagged many a Jap plane, asked for more; accurate artillery fire has blasted out enemy positions before the attackers could get moving; and plucky Americans and Filipinos still asked to go on the offensive after two months of pounding.

Eskimos Are Not What Many Folks Think They Are

American boys of the armed forces of the United States prepared to defend the Territory of Alaska from attack by the Japs will learn a lot of things about Eskimos that their school books never taught them, among them the fact that Eskimos are great sports and great sportsmen. Authority for the statement is Father Bernard R. Hubbard, noted lecturer, scientist and Jesuit missionary, said to know more about Alaska than any living man.

Known as the "Glacier Priest," head of the Geology Department at Santa Clara university, Father Hubbard has spent many years in exploration of every part of Alaska from the great volcanic mountains of the Aleutian chain far to the south to the northernmost reaches of the continent and far into the Arctic ocean to the edges of the polar ice pack.

"Our boys will have to discard a good many preconceived notions about Eskimos, particularly if they come into contact with the remote King Islanders," says Father Hubbard, who brings his newest motion picture film Wednesday, Feb. 25 to Town Hall in Escanaba.

"They would, for instance, discover that no Alaskan Eskimo ever has seen one of the little snow huts described in so many old time school geographies as igloos. They'd find that the Eskimos really build their houses of corrugated steel, drift wood, lumber and walrus hide. To the King Island Eskimo the word 'Igloo' simply means home.

"If any of our troops ever get to King Island in the stormy Bering Sea don't be surprised if you hear of a pigskin battle between a team of the Umpty-umpth Artillery and the King Island 'Polar Bears'.

The artillerymen would find a tough man in Tigniak of the 'Bears' and another just as hard in Tiulana of the Diomede Island 'Seals,' both of whom made what might be called the All-Arctic Eleven last year. Naturally our soldiers wouldn't have football equipment with them, but the Eskimos could provide it. I equipped both teams and taught these husky lads to play football myself with a gridiron laid out on the frozen Bering Sea in the lee of the King Island cliffs to which the huts of the village cling.

"In the hunt the King Islander is a gentleman and a sportsman, but he hunts only for food, says Father Hubbard. If war in itself is not a sufficient thrill, Father Hubbard believes American troops in the north coastal regions of Alaska would get a real kick out of a polar bear, walrus or whale hunt. In the season when the walrus are running the very lives of the King Islanders depend upon their success in downing a sufficient number of the great monsters to provide the colony with food and other necessities."

PUBLIC HEALTH GROUP TO MEET

Dr. Tonney Calls Session for This Afternoon At Health Center

Delta county's public health program will be speeded up, rather than slowed down, during the present international conflict, Dr. Fred O. Tonney of the health department said yesterday in calling a meeting of the Public Health committee for Civilian Defense for this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The meeting will be held in the new county health center building, at Washington Boulevard and 13th avenue north. Dr. Tonney is chairman of the committee.

The committee has three subcommitteees, namely:

1. That on epidemic control, headed by Dr. Thomas A. McInerney. Upon that committee will fall much of the burden of pushing through to completion the immunization of all Delta county school children against smallpox and diphtheria this year as recommended by the president, federal children's bureau and state department of health, Dr. Tonney said.

2. That on public health nursing, including maternal and child health, headed by Mrs. Dorothy Boyle, R. N., and Mrs. Mary Hansley, R. N.

3. That on sanitation, headed by S. J. (Sid) Shank. That sub-committee will be charged with the responsibility of seeing that food, milk and water supplies of homes, hotels—and bombshelters, if the war makes such necessary for Escanaba—are uncontaminated.

Alleged Violator Of Quarantine Will Have Hearing Today

Arthur LeClaire, Schaffer resident who is charged by Dr. Fred Tonney, county health doctor, with violation of a scarlet fever quarantine, will have a hearing before Justice of the Peace Henry Ranguette here today.

It is alleged that LeClaire took his wife and several children to visit friends and relatives in Escanaba several weeks ago while his home was under quarantine. One of the persons the LeClaires visited, an expectant mother, contracted the disease, it is also alleged.

Dr. Tonney stated that the violation of quarantine in this case was particularly dangerous because the type of scarlet fever involved is one adults are especially susceptible to.

Start now on this car-saving program... come to Car Conservation Headquarters!

STANDARD SERVICE
CAR CONSERVATION HEADQUARTERS

| Doubly Important Now — Get These Services Regularly | RECOMMENDED FREQUENCY |
|---|---|
| 1. Repack Front Wheel Bearings. Prevent bearing wear—a cause of wheel misalignment and wobbling—(an important factor in tire wear). | 5000 miles |
| 2. Clean Spark Plugs—Regap if necessary. Dirty and worn plugs waste gas. | 5000 miles |
| 3. Switch Wheels and Tires. Extremely important in gaining maximum mileage for all tires. Your Standard Oil dealer knows the proper re-arrangement for longest service. | 5000 miles |
| 4. Examine Tires for bruises, cuts, nails, glass, etc. Prevent little hurts from growing big. | 1000 miles |
| 5. Inflate Tires to proper pressure. Prevent excessive wear due to underinflation, overinflation. | Once a week |
| 6. Check Oil Filter. Very important to keep abrasive grit and dirt out of motor. | 8000 miles |
| 7. Drain and Flush Radiator, check cooling system, fan belt. Guard against dangerous overheating. | Each season |
| 8. Clean Air Cleaner. Dirty air cleaner acts like choke, causes excessive use of gas. Also allows grit to get into motor. | 3000 miles (more frequently in dusty driving) |
| 9. Fill Battery to proper level. This care, plus recharging when needed, and cleaning and greasing terminals, prolongs battery life. | 7-14 days |
| 10. Check Oil Level. Prolongs engine life by maintaining proper oil level. | Each gasoline fill |
| 11. Drain and Refill Crankcase. Draining out dirty oil and refilling with clean fresh oil will prolong engine life. | 1000 miles |
| 12. Complete Chassis Lubrication. Prolongs car life by saving wear. Reduces need for parts replacements. | 1000 miles |
| 13. Change Transmission and Differential Lubricant. Check level every 1000 miles for protection against gear and bearing wear. | Spring and Fall |
| 14. Wax and Polish Car to make finish last indefinitely. | 3 months |
| 15. Safety-checking and cleaning of lights, lenses, windshield, and windows. | Each station visit |
| 16. Check Anti-freeze to insure proper amount and protection, to avoid boiling or leaking away. | Frequently |

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

I HAVE A FRIEND

I do not know my friend's name. I only know that he is an old gentleman, that his initials are R. B., that he lives in Birmingham, England, and that he is supported by an old age pension. I know also that he is modest, and shrinks from publicity.

Dorothy Thompson

He had something that he cherished, a memento of Britain's last golden age, when Britannia ruled the waves as the world's unchallenged premier power, when "Made in England" was the mark of the most superior goods, when "Sterling" was the measure of all sound values, when the world was basking in the calm sun of a peace that seemed eternal—the Pax Brittanica held firmly but lightly by an intricate system of credits that could become sanctions, by a navy that none could or wished to challenge, and when, as in Britain's other greatest age, a woman sat upon the throne, appropriately named Victoria and was for Britain and the world the matriarchal symbol of substantial power and family virtue.

* * *

That world seemed eternal. Civilization, it appeared, had reached its pinnacle. An equilibrium had been established in which it seemed that freedom had been forever brought in gentle discipline to order, and order made tolerable by freedom.

* * *

The substantial middle class prosperity of the British Empire was reflected throughout most of the world, and in it, culture bloomed. Political serenity nourished prodigious intellectual and artistic achievement, and titans dotted the landscape: Darwin, Marx, Kipling, Nietzsche, Wagner, the great French impressionist painters, Tolstoy, Dostoievsky. The United States were shadowed for four years in civil war, but the tragic experience threw up a Lincoln and a Whitman and gave birth to the first great concept of Democracy.

* * *

The Victorian Age was more than a British Epoch. It was a world epoch. And the world was open as it never had been. Men traveled and worked where they wished, without passports or permits, and everybody's money was good in anybody's banks. Only the prophetic could foresee, through the visions of titanic minds, that the wheel was turning, and Kipling, the glorifier of Empire, could suddenly cry "Lord God of Hosts be with us yet, lest we forget!"

* * *

What my old and unknown friend cherished was a Victoria sovereign, a golden guinea, displaying the plump Queen's regal profile. One can imagine him, in his pensioned old age in a wartorn paper and credit world, showing it to his grandchildren, and telling them of that British world of his youth.

I do not know what prompted him to give it away—that Sovereign: to take it to the Honorable J. Smedley Crooke, member in the House of Commons for Birmingham and ask him to send it anonymously to me.

"A present and a souvenir to Miss Dorothy Thompson," he wanted the inscription to read "from an old age Pensioner who admires the friendship you had for England in her hour of distress . . . . May your writings help Democracy . . . God Bless you."

And so, after six weeks have passed, the sovereign is put into my hand by an official of "His Majesty's Government," transferring the Queen's profile from Birmingham to New York.

* * *

I am singularly moved. There is so much in the gesture. There is, for instance, gratitude, a virtue of the proud and brave alone; a rare virtue that more than any other reveals the superior heart—a reticent and anonymous gratitude for friendship in an "hour of distress."

And gratitude for what?

Only for recognition and testimony to a greatness in Britain that shines through her darkest hours as clearly as in her brightest; a recognition of the spirit of June 1940 that looked into the abyss, and did not falter, and that unfaltering still, gazes, comprehends, and fights on.

* * *

There is, in the gesture, something else—a transference. It is as though my old friend said, "Here is a symbol of the pinnacle of our power. But the power of men of our tongue lies across the water today."

And he utters a word not Victoria's, "Democracy," accepting our world, the world of the massed people—Lincoln's world.

* * *

I hold the sovereign in my hand, and my friend's gratitude releases the gratitude in me. Gratitude for the tongue I speak; gratitude for the world of freedom under law; gratitude for the concept "gentle" as applied to a man, and to Power; gratitude for the stony gaze that glares at tyranny though the hands are weakened; gratitude for the dogged fight that makes death synonymous with defeat. And a question in my mind, too. Shall we do as well? Not shall we be perfect, but just: Shall we, on the whole balance, do as well?

My friend sends Victoria to me—through me to us. Victoria for Victory.

Skandia Motorist Is Given 30 Days For Tipsy Driving

Sam Breggess, 53 year old Skandia woods worker, pleaded guilty here yesterday to a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and, unable to pay a fine of $50 and costs, he was sentenced to the county jail for 30 days by Justice of the Peace Henry Ranguette.

His driver's license was also suspended.

Breggess was arrested here Monday morning by city police officers.

"Iron Rations" for the Home

You mustn't hoard food. But it's the part of wisdom in these times to keep an emergenny shelf stocked like the one in the photo. There are evaporated milk and coffee for instant serving, dried beef, figs, dates, crackers, candy bars and a few bottled fruit juices. The shelf also contains a variety of glassed fruits in wide-mouthed, easy-to-empty jars. This forehanded housewife also keeps a plumber's candle and a supply of safety matches handy, too, as a precaution against gas and electricity being turned off during a blackout.

Wilford Will Have Trial In April On Negligence Charge

Henry W. Wilford, 25-year-old old Rapid River man who was charged with negligent homicide here last December 8 following the death on the previous day of Richard Elliott, 46, of Rapid River, who was struck and killed while walking on highway U. S. 2 and 41 near Masonville by a car driven by Wilford, waived preliminary examination here yesterday and was bound to circuit court for trial in April.

Wilford is at liberty on bond of $2,000.

When arraigned last December 8 Wilford pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Public Is Asked To Observe Visiting Hours At Hospital

Attention of the public again is called to the fact that certain hours are designated as visiting hours at St. Francis hospital and cooperation is urged, to facilitate efficiency in the hospital routine, as well as in the best interests of patients.

The rule barring all children under sixteen from the hospital is still in effect, it was emphasized, and will be strictly enforced.

Visiting hours are from 10 to 11 o'clock in the morning; 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon; and 7 to 8:30 o'clock in the evening.

KIRK A. RAICHE, AGE FIVE, DIES

Escanaba Child Stricken By Scarlet Fever, Brief Illness

Kirk Allen Raiche, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hart Raiche, 1902 South First avenue, died at 4:30 yesterday afternoon at the home of his parents.

Death, resulting from scarlet fever, followed an illness of five days.

The child was born Oct. 23, 1936, at Manistique. Mr. Raiche is a member of the staff in the office of the U. S. Forest Service in the federal building here.

Survivors, in addition to the parents, include a sister, Kay Raiche, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Johnson, Norway, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Raiche, Escanaba.

Due to the nature of the infection causing the child's death, private funeral services will be conducted from the Allo Funeral home at 2 p. m. today, with Rev. Fr. J. E. Guertin of St. Anne's church officiating. Burial will be in St. Anne's cemetery.

Job Compensation Claims Increase

Final layoffs in many establishments affected by the complete shutdown of automobile production last week boosted the total of all benefit claims filed with the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission to 126,174.

This was an increase of 26,584 over the preceding week, according to Wendell Lund, Executive Director of the Commission, who reported that in the corresponding week of last year only 35,915 claims of all types were filed.

In Escanaba, claims for Unemployment Compensation also have shown a substantial increase. New claims for benefits increased during the week ending February 12 to 16 whereas the previous week there were only 9. Additional claims also increased during the week ending 2-12 but the increase was slight and only two over the previous week. Continued claims for Unemployment Compensation, however, took a substantial increase over the previous week of from 133 to 158.

The above increase in claims in the Escanaba office shows evidence that this vicinity is also being affected in a small way by the layoffs in the automobile industry. A number of individuals whose home is in this locality have come back from Detroit and filed their initial claims here, while other individuals laid off in this industry in Detroit had filed their claims in Detroit and then transferred back to this area.

BETTER CHANCE

Blood poisoning sufferers have twice as much chance of recovery today as they did six years ago, due to remedies of sulfanilamide chemicals.

"WITHDRAWING" ROOM

Originally, it was known as a "withdrawing room" instead of a drawing room, and to it ladies withdrew after dinner, while the men were left to their broad jokes and strong drinks.

CLEAR THE LINES FOR WAR CALLS!

Telephone lines are always busiest in mid-morning and mid-afternoon. Those are the "peak" periods for business calls. Right now, with the state and nation on a schedule of all-out production for war, this peak load is far greater than ever before. It takes a lot of telephone calls to make a tank or a bomber, and it's vitally important that such messages should not be delayed.

By doing your telephoning at off-peak hours and keeping your calls as short as possible, you'll improve your own service and give real help to America's effort in the war emergency.

Subversive Group Activities Topic Of Club Address

Lorraine Grodesky, president of the Escanaba Business and Professional Women's club, speaking at the club's meeting Monday night on the activities of subversive groups in the United States and the means of combating them, made a definite impression on her audience by discussing the subject in a clear and direct manner which brought out all the alarming significance of the intrigue.

In her presentation of the facts gathered to illustrate the methods of these undermining influences, Mrs. Godesky described the insidious technique employed by the agents to carry out their subtle plot.

"Endeavoring to gain control of an existing organization in an adroit manner by establishing a nucleus to form its policies is merely one recognized method used to accomplish their purpose," she said. "Grievances and discontent are fostered in an effort to promote their plan of disintegregation."

Mrs. Godesky summarized the undeniably harmful and destroying results of these purposeful inroads that have been attemted in almost every phase of our national life, and, in conclusion, said, "To identify these forces and attack them with every means available to us should be our constant effort. We must defend Americanism and Amercan ways of living on every occasion to defeat these disturbing influences. We must investigate and check every organization, enterprise, publication and reform movement on which we are approached for aid or service in the name of prograss and reform, and determine their source. That is our most effective method of combating these dangerous weapons against our democracy."

Colds' Coughing

Here's Easy Time-Tested Way To Get Relief

Get after those distressing spells of coughing and ease misery of the cold the widely used Vicks way... Boil some water. Pour it into a bowl. Add a good spoonful of Vicks VapoRub. Then breathe in the steaming medicinal vapors. With every breath you take VapoRub's medication soothes irritation, quiets coughing, helps clear head and breathing passages. FOR ADDED RELIEF... At bedtime rub Vicks VapoRub on throat, chest and back. Its poultice-vapor action works to bring you comfort while you sleep.

Evelyn Sivertsen Bride, Wedding On February 14

Immanuel Lutheran church, its sanctuary banked with palms and ferns, was the setting on Saturday, February 14, of the wedding of Evelyn Marcella Sivertsen, of 220 North Eleventh street, daughter of Gehart Sivertsen of this city, and Ernest Scheeneman of Ford River, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Scheeneman.

The vows were exchanged at 2 o'clock before Rev. L. R. Lund, pastor of the church.

Bridal music, including "Someday, Sometime", Clark, "I Love You Truly", Jacobs-Bond, "At Dawning", Cadman; D'Hardelot's "Because", and "Liebestraum", Liszt, was played as the guests were being ushered to their pews, and Mrs. L. R. Lund, soloist of the service, sang "O Promise Me", DeKoven and "O Perfect Love". The traditional processional and recessional bridal marches were used.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Arvella Sivertsen, and Herbert Scheeneman was his brother's best man. Ushers were Erling Arntzen and Vernon Sivertsen.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of white slipper satin of close fitting lines. The sweetheart neckline was outlined in seed pearls, the sleeves puffed at the shoulder line and tapering into a point over the wrists and the full length skirt forming a long train. Her finger-tip veil was gathered to a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of roses, calla lillies and gladioli.

Her bridesmaid wore blue net over satin with a coronet of flowers and a matching shoulder veil.

Mrs. Scheeneman, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy blue ensemble and a corsage of roses and gladioli.

Home in Escanaba

A 6:30 o'clock wedding supper for thirty-five guests, immediate members of the two families, was served at the home of the bride's father. The tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bridal couple centered the table appointments with an arrangement of flowers and matching tapers, and cut flowers were used in the decorations throughout the home.

The couple left later for a two weeks' honeymoon in Chicago, the bride for traveling wearing a figured silk jersey dress with matching coat and accessories. They will make their home in Escanaba.

Guests at the wedding included Mrs. J. M. Olsen of Pensaukee and Herbert Scheeneman of Detroit.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Should a volunteer worker criticize those in charge of the organization for which she is working?
2. Is it all right for a hostess to have a few friends in for tea and, when extending the invitation, urge them to bring their knitting
3. Is it all right for a guest to mention how pretty a tea table looks?
4. At dinner should cups be placed so that the handles are to the right?
5. Is it permissible to stack dishes when removing them from the table?

What would you do if—

You are setting a table for a formal dinner—

(a) Use bread and butter plates?

(b) Omit bread and butter plates?

Answers

1. No. It may discourage others from volunteering their services.
2. Certainly.
3. Yes.
4. Yes.
5. No.

Gin Rummy Four-Handed

(This is one of a series of articles on Gin Rummy, the card craze now sweeping the United States.)

* * *

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

America's Card Authority

Gin Rummy makes a lively and entertaining team game, and is so played at many card tables. Any convenient number of pairs may participate, so long as the number on each side is the same. Matches with from two to five pairs per side have been played, but the commonest match is between just two pairs.

To explain how such a match is played, let us call the four players A, B, C and D. Players A and B are in partnership, also C and D. In the first round of the match, A plays a regular two-handed game of Gin Rummy against C, while B plays against D. In the second round, A plays with D and B with C.

Each round consists of a complete game, not just one hand. There is a little difference in the scoring here. In the ordinary two-handed contest, "the game" is 100; that is, the game ends after one player reaches or passes 100 points, and the winner is credited with the difference of the total scores, plus a bonus of 100 points. In the four-handed contest, the game is 125, but the game bonus remains 100.

During a game, both pairs commence a hand at the same time, that is, when the first pair finishes the play of a hand, that pair waits until the other pair finishes before beginning the next hand. It is necessary to wait because the scores made by the two partners are combined and go as one item into the running scores of the two sides. For example, if A goes down and wins 13 points against C, and if D goes down and wins 8 points against B, the partnership AB is credited with 5 points for that hand.

The players who finish play first may then advise their partners, who are still playing. Of course this privilege may not be exercised by a player who has seen an adverse hand.

A point to be noted is that a player may not "count out" as he does in some two-handed games. For example, suppose that AB have a total of 120 points. In the next hand, A and D finish first, not thereby "count out" and win the game. Game can be won only after the score from both matches is taken into account. Should B now lose by 5 points to C, AB would win only 4 points net and would remain a point short of game.

Miss Catherine Rodman Bride Of Marcus DeGrand

Miss Catherine Rodman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marko Rodman, 1603 North Eighteenth street, and Marcus DeGrand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred DeGrand of Escanaba, Route One, spoke their marriage vows in a ceremony which took place Saturday, February 14, at St. Joseph's church.

Rev. Fr. Lucian Green, O. F. M., who was celebrant of the nuptial high mass at 9 o'clock, solemnized the service.

The bride was attended by Miss Dorothy St. Antoine and Robert DeGrand was best man.

The bride's gown of white satin was fashioned in softly draped lines, the bodice finished with a Queen Anne collar, and the floor length skirt extending into a long train. Her lace edged veil was full length. She carried a bouquet of roses, lilies and carnations.

Her bridesmaid wore rose-print taffeta with aqua trim and a head band of aqua and gladioli, roses and snapdragons were used in her bouquet.

A wedding dinner for forty guests was served at the home of the bride's parents, the tiered wedding cake forming the table centerpiece.

Mr. and Mrs. DeGrand will make their home in Escanaba at 509 North Nineteenth street. Mr. DeGrand is employed here by the Bird's Eye Veneer company.

Guests at the wedding included Mrs. Clarence Nordquist and daughter, Marilyn, of Cicero, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. John Rodman of Gladstone.

NEED EXTRA CASH? If you have a job, you can get a Household Finance loan at very reasonable cost. Suppose you borrow $25 and repay in four monthly instalments of $6.65 each, a total of $26.60. The cost of your loan is only $1.60. Or take a $50 loan repaid in four monthly instalments of $13.29 each, totaling $53.16. You pay just $3.16 for your loan. A $100 loan, repaid in six monthly instalments of $18.15 each, costs only $8.90.

You may apply for any loan shown in the table. And you may choose the payment plan which best fits your own income. And you needn't even come to this office to apply for your loan or to get the money. Just mail the coupon below and we will send you complete information.

All you do

All you do to apply for a Household loan is to tell us how much you need and how you wish to repay. Loans made without endorsers—just the ability to repay in small monthly instalments. At no time do we question friends or relatives about your credit. You get your loan simply and privately.

Household Finance loans are made in three ways. 1. On your personal note. No security required. Note loans are made, under proper conditions, to both single persons and married couples. 2. On your car. 3. On your furniture. When making car and furniture loans, we consider character and income far more important than the value of your security. Your loan will be made the way which best fits your own situation.

Let us help you

Payments in the table include all charges at the rate of 2½% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100, 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100 but not exceeding $200, and 1% per month on any remainder. You pay nothing more.

BY BERNARD S. O'HARA

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—Renewed war doubts assailed the stock market today and, while pressure was light throughout, leading issues suffered their most severe losses in a week.

The list lacked rising animation at the start and, as bidders withdrew in many cases, prices retreated fractions to a point or more. At the worst a few "blue chips" were off better than 5. Prices improved slightly here and there in the final hour.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks ended with a net decline of .6 of a point at 36.5, largest setback since last Tuesday. Volume was negligible throughout and transfers for the full proceedings amounted to 389,100 shares compared with 376,180 the day before.

Chrysler was off 1 3-8 at 47½ and, after the close, directors voted a dividend of $1 on the common compared with $1.50 disbursed in the four previous quarters. The company reported 1941 net of $9.22 a share against $8.69 the year before.

United Fruit, Air Reduction, Du Pont, Dow Chemical and Allied Chemical hit new lows for the year with recessions of 2 to 4 points. United Fruit apparently was depressed by the appearance of U-boats on its south Atlantic routes. Du Pont sold off after yesterday's cut in the dividend.

Oils softened with Standard (N. J.) down 1 5-8. Chilling this issue was more tanker sinkings and threats to the company's important refineries in the Dutch West Indies.

Prominent on the downside were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Can, Westinghouse, Union Carbide, Texas Co., United Aircraft, American Smelting, Union Pacific, General Motors, Montgomery Ward and International Harvester.

Southern New England Telephone, in the curb, tumbled 26½ points on a 20-share sale, first since December 1. Moderate losers were Gulf Oil, Humble Oil, Lake Shore and Pantepec. Turnover here approximated 78,000 shares versus 71,000 yesterday.

New York, Feb. 17 (AP)—The bond market made a half-hearted attempt to rally early in today's session but soon stumbled over heavier offerings and ended with losses of fractions to a point ruling in the main groups.

The rails, industrials, utilities and foreign dollar loans in the Associated Press averages gave up .1 to .4 of a point and the low-yields held unchanged. Total sales of $6,511,900, par value, were about in line with Monday's turnover of $6,425,500.

Corporate issues under water included Laclede Gas 5½s at 76⅝, Illinois Central 4¾s at 44½, Erie 4½s at 53 1-8, Wabash 4s at 46 3-8 and Missouri Pacific 5s at 25⅝.

Daggett

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Daggett, Mich.—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Suryan of Banat observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their farm home on Sunday, February 8. The couple renewed their wedding vows before Rev. William F. Schick at the 10 o'clock mass in St. Frederick's church, Daggett on Sunday. Following the church observance a family dinner was served and in the afternoon and evening they held open house.

Mr. and Mrs. Suryan were married in Austria-Hungary and came to the United States in 1908. They lived for a number of years in St. Louis and in 1919 the couple purchased a farm near Banat.

The couple have eight children: Mrs. Steve (Ann) Sabo in Germany; Mrs. Joseph (Leona) Kanton; Mrs. John (Verona) Wischler and Miss Elizabeth Suryan of Chicago; Mrs. Mary Farrell, Joseph, Jr., and John Suryan, Jr., of Flint, and Alex Suryan of Manitowoc.

Mrs. Weng Entertains

Mrs. Arthur Weng of Daggett was hostess to the Tuesday evening bridge club at her home. Members are wives of Masons. Honors scores went to Mrs. Peter Rose, Mrs. Folmer Christenson and Mrs. Earl Koenig.

Heidenreich Baby

A daughter was born to Dr. and Mrs. John Heidenreich of Camp Wallace, Galveston, Tex., on Tuesday, February 10. The baby is their second child and will be named Ann. Dr. Heidenreich formerly practiced here.

Appendectomy

Richard Nordgren, 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nordgren of Daggett was operated on for appendicitis Monday at St. Joseph's hospital in Menominee.

Paul Sakovitz, Jr., 8 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sakovitz, returned home Tuesday from the Marinette General hospital where he underwent an appandectomy.

Personals

Roy Nelson returned from Manitowoc on Tuesday.

Mrs. Roy Lesperance and Miss Donna Lesperance left for Chicago on Monday.

Mrs. J. M. Conway and daughter Margaret visited at the home of George Bergstrom Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stodola, daughters Helen and Margaret and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Stodola and son, Jimmie, visited relatives in Cedar River, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Tuinstra of Menominee visited at the Ahlskog home on Sunday.

Rev. H. Hopp and Rev. Theo. Thurrow of Menominee attended the Pastoral Conference at Gladstone on Tuesday.

Miss Ruth Lesperance attended the Michigan Tech. Winter Carnival at Houghton over the week end.

Rev. and Mrs. V. E. Anderson, Mrs. B. Miller of Menominee and Mrs. M. Carlson of Marinette attended the Ladies Aid at the home of Mrs. Ed Johnson, Wednesday.

ZEIDLER GIVES TALK

Sault Ste. Marie — Declaring that every inch of water level on the Great Lakes is a contribution to the victory of America through full utilization of the all-important Sault locks, Mayor Carl F. Zeidler of Milwaukee Saturday night invited Sault Ste. Marie to become Milwaukee's partner in fighting Chicago's "water steal."

In return he made it plain that he and Milwaukee were sled-length back of Sault Ste. Marie in its battle for adequate protection of the St. Mary's river waterway and for a fourth lock to further assure a full flow of victory freight.

Mayor Zeidler, addressing the second annual marine banquet at Baraga auditorium, attended by 400 persons, declared that Chicago is carrying its fight to Donald Nelson and the War Production Board in an effort to divert in excess of its allotted 1,500 cubic feet per second to the Chicago sewage canal.

How vital every inch of water level on the Great Lakes is to America's war effort is evidenced by the fact that in 1941 167,000,000 tons of bulk freight were carried on the Great Lakes. Of this 111,000,000 passed through the Sault locks, including 83,000,000 tons of all-important iron ore.

FIRST LOVE — AND TRAGEDY

CHAPTER VI

A few days later when they were coming home from school they overtook Willy Macintosh. He looked very solemn.

"What's the matter, Willy?" Parris asked.

"My pa is awful sick." He blurted the words, and tears stood in his brown eyes.

"What's the matter with him?" asked Renee.

"I don't know. Terrible bad though. He's going to have an operation today."

"Oh, my goodness!"

They walked slowly, keeping step with Willy, who delayed as much as possible. When they came to the crossroads where the big white Macintosh house stood in a grove of trees they saw a buggy standing at the gate.

"That's Dr. Gordon's buggy," Willy said as if to prove his story. "I guess he's performin' the operation."

"Well, Willy, I hope your papa'll—" Renee's speech was cut short by a dreadful sound. A long-drawn cry came from open windows. It was more like the howl of a dog. It mounted and mounted as though it would never stop, then broke into several short, quick sobs and died in a long moan. Renee turned pale and caught Parris by the arm.

"Good gracious, Willy," Renee spoke in a loud whisper, "didn't Dr. Gordon give your father chloroform?"

"I—I heard Mama say he c-couldn't take chloroform because he's got heart disease."

The terrible yells began again. Willy threw his books into the ditch beside the road. His face was crimson, and he was crying aloud. Then he began to run toward the house. "He's got to quit that," he sobbed. "He's got to quit that. I'll—I'll kill that old durnfool doctor!"

Parris and Renee watched Willy as he dashed up the walk and flung himself at the front door. He wrenched and pulled at the door, but it was locked. He ran around toward the kitchen door crying, "He's got to quit that—I'll kill him—I'll kill him!"

"Come on, Parris, let's go home. I'm scared. I never heard a man cry and holler before, did you?"

The next day at school Parris overheard Miss Colt say to Miss Venable that Mr. Macintosh had died from shock. He wondered just what that meant. It was a long time before Parris could forget the sounds he had heard that afternoon. Whenever he saw Dr. Gordon dashing along the road behind his two high-spirited bays, he was reminded of it, and always he was divided between two feelings—one, a sort of terror of the man who cut people with knives, and the other an excited admiration. But it must be wonderful to be a doctor, anyhow, he decided. Dr. Gordon must be a very fine doctor. Everybody said so.

One thing, however, he was certain of. He was afraid of Dr. Henry Gordon.

* * *

Parris and Renee would have fallen quickly into their accustomed summer pastime had it not been for the sudden, inexplicable strictness of Sven, her father. "There is danger in mixing classes," he told Gudrun. "More—now that both of them are growing up."

The next week he forbade Renee to roam the place with Parris as she used to do, thrashing her soundly in the storm of tears and refusals to obey him that followed. Of all this she told Parris nothing until, one stolen afternoon, they went up through the spruce planting and down the other side to the pond—their "secret lake," as they always called it.

Renee stooped beneath the branches of the big crab apple tree and entered the canopied space beneath.

"Parris," she said softly.

He knelt beside her. "What's the matter, Renee?"

She told him, her hair, silver in the green shadows, falling over her face to hide the tears. "So you see, I can't be your sweetheart anymore," she whimpered.

"Oh, no, Renee!" he cried, taking her awkwardly in his arms, kissing her cheeks, stroking her head, rocking her gently.

"Papa said that if I—look!" She leapt to her feet and cowered against the tree.

"Parris, there was somebody in those bushes—somebody watching us. Maybe Papa."

He scrambled to his feet and stood close to her, holding her arms tight. "How do you know? Did you see anybody?"

"I saw somebody—I don't know who it was—oh—" she began to cry.

"Come on, Renee, let's go."

"No." She thought a minute. "You stay here, and I'll go first. You wait a good while."

"I better go with you."

"You do like I tell you. You wait."

Before he could argue further, she ran. He watched her blue dress fluttering down the long alley between the trees.

Later he went slowly down the same way she had gone. He thought first he had best go home some roundabout way, but he felt that he must see her—pass her house.

When he came in sight of the little cottage he was surprised. The doors were shut and the shades were drawn. He was about to pass when he heard voices. It was Sven—Gudrun, too. Without thinking he ran up the walk to the door. He could hear Sven cursing, and Gudrun saying something very loud. They were speaking Swedish, though, and he could not understand. Sven began to shout. Through it he heard a little wail that almost stopped his heart. Renee!

There was a thud on the floor as though someone had been thrown against it. Then he heard the unmistakable swish of a heavy leather strap. He heard it strike flesh and heard Renee's piercing scream. He hurled himself against the door and shouted.

"Sven! Sven Gyllinson—Sven—Sven . . ."

But Sven did not hear. Sven was cursing louder than ever. The sharp slap of the strap came faster and faster. Renee's screams ran together in a continued stream of sound. Still the murderous blows went on and on. The screams changed. They were suddenly hoarse—like the cries of an animal.

Parris whirled and leaned his back against the door. He flung his arms straight on either side to keep from falling. He looked up where a few clouds seemed to hang motionless. "Dear God—dear God—dear God—don't—don't let—"

Suddenly the terrible crying sank to a shaking moan and stopped, but the hideous swish of the strap went on—steadily—relentlessly.

Parris felt himself turn icy cold. He knew he was going to be sick. He threw out his hands as he saw the ground slanting sharply toward his face.

* * *

It was almost dark when he opened his eyes. He remembered at once where he was and what had happened. He crawled a few paces and listened. The house was silent. Had they killed her? His breath shook out of him in gasps. He felt terribly ill. Tomorrow—he'd tell his grandmother about Sven. They'd take Renee away from him. Tomorrow—he couldn't do anything now. Tomorrow—Sven—the dirty, horrible, monstrous, terrible dog—tomorrow! He could not keep to the path. It kept swinging out from under him—slipping to one side—slithering from under his feet. . . . He tore his hands in the rose trellis.

He stumbled up the steps of the terrace. He heard Anna's startled exclamation as he stepped into the blinding lamplight, and then his grandmother saying, "Nom de Dieu! Anna, vite, de l'eau. . . ."

Dr. Gordon came, but Parris could not see him clearly. He heard questions, and tried to answer. Faces without bodies attached to them seemed to float over the bed. They came close, and enormous eyes looked at him. He tried to get away but could not. He tried hard to think. He said Renee—Renee—Renee, over and over. What was happening to her? Maybe she was still lying on the floor behind that locked door. Maybe she was lying in bed—all bloody. He screamed and pushed at Dr. Gordon's face. Then he felt someone hold his hands and force him back on the pillow. He knew he was falling through the pillow—through the bed—through the floor—down a long shining tunnel that dwindled away and away to a tiny shimmering point. He was rushing violently toward that minute spark at the end of the slippery tunnel. . . .

When he awoke it was dark outside. There was a shaded light in the corner, and someone was in the big rocking chair.

"Anna!" He could hardly hear himself—such a funny weak croak he made!

Anna ran to the door. "Madame, bitte komm'!"

In a moment his grandmother leaned over him. "Parris," she said very softly.

"Yes." He tried to move.

"S-sh! Not now, tomorrow you can talk, perhaps."

He waked and slept and waked again but never for very long. Then one morning the objects in the room were steadier and clearer, but the inside of his head was heavy as lead. His temples seemed to spread out like balloons—then he floated for a moment until the heaviness returned and thrust his head down hard into the pillow.

He lay half awake and tried once more to think. A wagon rattled along the drive below the terrace. He heard a whip crack. A quick little cry escaped his lips. That was it! Renee!

His grandmother was instantly beside the bed. "Parris, what is it?"

"Where's Renee?"

"She's not here just now, dear. Try to lie still."

He wailed a little. "But where is she?"

Madame laid one of her wrinkled little hands on his. "Renee has gone away, Parris."

"Gone? Gone away? Where?"

"Well, I don't know, dear. Her father moved away somewhere."

All of the breath went out of him.

His face drew up, but he couldn't cry. "Oh, oh!" he said weakly.

LOCAL DEFENSE PLAN OUTLINED

Council Discusses Program; Appointments Recommended

The Schoolcraft county defense council met Monday evening to discuss plans for the local civilian defense program and to make recommendations to the state council for appointments for important positions in the local program.

A director for a local physical fitness program was selected by the local board for recommendation to the state council. The appointment will be made later by the state officials. The physical fitness program is to be directed in the state by Eugene Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction.

A salvage for victory campaign will be conducted here under the direction of the local committee. Various appointments for this committee also were recommended to the state officials by the local defense council.

In connection with this program, it has been announced that City Manager P. H. Beauvais will offer a $5 cash prize for the school class, Boy Scout troop or other organization that weighs in the most scrap metal in a week to be selected after the program gets under way here.

It is also planned to conduct prize contests later for other salvage programs, including paper, burlap, rags, rubber and vital metals.

A speakers' bureau also was appointed by the local committee as follows: DeLloyd Huenink, director, representing the local churches; A. F. Hall, representing the schools; Mrs. Dorothy Shipman, Women's club; William Sheahan and J. R. Fitzharris, professional men; Joseph Heirman, county agricultural agent; Earl LeBrasseur, labor; J. J. Herbert, war veterans; Lottie Weber, Legion Auxiliary; J. C. Wood and G. S. Johnson, Bar association; William Norton, press.

A recommendation for the appointment of a chief air raid warden for the county also was made by the council. This appointment, as some of the others, will be announced from Lansing after the state council passes upon the recommendations of the local council.

Members of the local defense council are P. H. Beauvais, acting chairman; John McGillis, Dan Harrington, John Nessman, and Mayor Frank Hutt.

REGISTRATION JOB EFFICIENT

Board Orders Many Men for Physical Examinations

The local selective service board yesterday expressed approval of the efficient manner in which the registration of men 20 years to 44 years of age, inclusive, excluding those previously registered, was conducted here by volunteer workers.

The registration went off without a hitch with registrants being signed up at several locations. Local boards are not authorized to disclose the number of registrants who filled out the simple form but the total did reach the board's expectations for this county.

While the board awaited definite information from headquarters concerning the procedure to be followed in regard to the new registrants, preparations went forward to meet the army's demands for large quotas in the period immediately ahead.

The local board has been informed that it will be called upon to order up for army medical examinations next month just about all of the 1-A registrants immediately available.

The board revealed that the following men were called up for physical examinations yesterday and today: Raymond Henry, Robert Shampine, Leon Wood, Clyde Dixon, John A. Stoor, Russell Paquette, Julius Settergren, John Barnes, Norman Wood, Everett Collier, all of Manistique; James Tebo, Leo Leveille, and Royal Martin, Cooks; Theodore Jackson, Gulliver; Howard Latsch, Thompson; Leonard Barkett, Seney; John Faketty and Alfred Murphy, Route One.

The following men will receive medical examinations later in the week: Assigned to Dr. N. L. Lindquist—George Zeilbeck, William Taylor, Louis Winandy and James R. Fitzharris, Manistique; John Peterson, Leonard Carley, Cooks; Walter MacGregor, Gulliver; Charles Trotter, Seney; Robert Koschmider, Germfask. Assigned to Dr. George A. Shaw—Walter Nelson, Bruce Rossier, Franklin Davenport, Nicholas Lesica, Robert Hoppins, all of Manistique; Gunnar Jackson, Ralph Stites, Glen MacGregor, Gulliver; Joseph Galanda, Hiawatha; Steve Hoholik, Thompson. Assigned to Dr. Fyvie—Francis Vassau, Byron Shampine, Keith Niles, Morris Parker, Walter LaFreniere, Adolph Hinrichson, Manistique; Leonard Lupton, Harry Schram, Gulliver; Eugene Nesler, Germfask.

Fire Prevention Program For Rural Areas Conducted

The Schoolcraft County USDA War Board, with the assistance of various local organizations, are sponsoring a county-wide rural fire prevention campaign during the month of February.

The program is designed so as to contact every farm and rural home in the county. The purpose of the campaign is to save materials needed to win the war.

If farmers will realize that in the United States a farm building burns every 15 minutes, he can see the importance of the campaign. In 1940, farmers in the United States lost $100,000,000 through fires. Materials for replacing the buildings lost by fire are difficult to get in the present national emergency which makes it all the more important that farmers take steps toward the prevention of fires.

Another important angle to consider is the loss of human lives. A total of 250 lives were lost during 1940 in Michigan farm fires.

The war board expressed the hope that every rural family will cooperate to the fullest extent to reduce fires during the emergency period. In doing so, the farmers will again have done their part in the defense of democracy.

Maternal Aid Class Meets On Thursday

Classes on maternal and child care will continue this week. These classes are held every Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Elks Temple. On February 12 a discussion on prenatal care was led by Miss Lois Wroten, Health Department nurse. Mrs. Charles Underwood was hostess and assisted by Mrs. Stanley Reid, served a light lunch. February 19 Mrs. Bernice Gardner, R. N., will present the material. Any woman interested is invited.

World Day Of Prayer Will Be Observed Friday

The World Day of Prayer will be observed Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Methodist church for all Protestant church groups in the city, it has been announced by Rev. Otto Steen.

The affair is sponsored by the National Committee of Church Women. The theme will be "I Am The Way."

Electrical Power

During 1940, the United States produced almost 115,000,000,000 kilowatt-hours of electrical power. Highest monthly output of the year was in December, when 424,932,000 kilowatt-hours were produced.

Enemy Aliens Must Get Identification Certificates Soon

All natives, citizens or subjects of any foreign nation or government with which war has been declared, who are 14 years of age or older, and who are within the United States and who have not fully acquired United States citizenship, are required to apply at specified postoffices for certificates of identification.

The final date for application of enemy aliens in this area is Saturday, Feb. 28, and thus far there has been little response to the federal ruling, it is learned from postal authorities.

Such certificates are to contain the alien's photo and must be thereafter carried by the person to which issued.

Identification officials are authorized to accept photographs of applicants with head covering, if the official is satisfied that the rules of a religious order, by which the applicant is bound, make such head covering necessary and if other requirements are complied with.

Austrians, Austrian-Hungarians and Koreans who involuntarily or mistakenly registered under the Alien Registration Act of 1940 as Germans, Italians or Japanese are required to apply for Certificates of Identification, but they may state in their applications that they are Austrians, Austrian-Hungarians or Koreans. After they obtain their Certificates of Identification they will be given an opportunity to correct their alien registration following suitable investigation.

Those who do not comply with these requirements are subject to severe penalties.

The Certificate of Identification will be a protection to you and will facilitate matters in connection with travel and other permits, passes, and exemptions which may, from time to time, be granted to individual persons in accordance with rules and regulations. The Certificate will serve different purposes than the Alien Registration Receipt Card heretofore issued to you.

In filing the Application for Certificate of Identification, you are merely giving current information concerning yourself and are complying with necessary wartime requirements of the United States Government. You are also giving evidence of your peaceful disposition and of your desire to cooperate and to conform to the laws of the United States.

These are the steps required of you:

(1) Look up your Alien Registration Receipt Card at once. You must have it, to avoid delay, when you apply for a Certificate of Identification. If you do not have it, write immediately to Alien Registration Division, Washington, D. C., stating (a) whether you lost it or never had one, and (b) your nationality and present address and where you registered—whether in the United States or outside the United States at a Consular Office, or as a seaman.

(2) Study the back of the notice. It shows the information you must have in order to file your application. Write out, or have someone write for you, the names, dates, places, or facts you will need.

(3) Obtain three unmounted photographs of yourself, with light background, 2 by 2 inches in size, on thin paper. These photographs must be taken not more than 30 days prior to presenting your application, and must clearly show a front view of the face without hat. Take the photographs with you when you go to the post office to make application for your Certificate of Identification.

(4) During such period as will be publicized in the press and on the radio, go to the first or second class or county seat post office nearest your place of rseidence, taking with you the items mentioned in (1), (2), and (3). Be sure to go to the post office even if you do not have your Alien Registration Receipt Card. You may take a member of your family or a friend with you. If you cannot write, take someone with you who writes plainly. If you cannot get such a person, there will be clerks at the post office to help you with your application. But you must have the required information. You will be given application forms to fill out at the post office.

(5) Your Certificate of Identification must be delivered to you personally at your residence address unless different instructions are given at the post office. Cooperate in every way possible with the post office carrier to facilitate delivery and acceptance.

These requirements should involve no expense to you except for the photographs. It is not necessary to pay any person or organization to assist you. The Government, through its post offices, will assist you as much as possible. Complete instructions and official regulations may be examined at the post office where you file your application.

If there is any doubt as to whether a person should apply for a certificate of identification they may inquire at the post office. All inquiries will be treated confidentially.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Harvey of Marquette were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Damitz, Wisconsin avenue.

Make Kit Bags For Soldiers; Appeal For Various Items

The local chapter of the American Red Cross is now engaged in making and furnishing kit bags for members of the United States armed forces and various articles are needed to furnish each unit.

It is believed, Mrs. C. S. Norton, local chairman, states, that there are many persons who have been unable to assist in sewing or knitting articles who may be willing to furnish articles or money with which the needed items may be bought.

In each kit is placed a pencil, small diary, jack-knife, comb, shaving cream, cards, five U. S. A. postcards, paper and envelopes, buttons, 8 large eyed needles, two darning needles, 6 2-inch safety pins and black and white thread.

Articles may be left at the Red Cross rooms in the city hall.

The bags have been furnished to our forces in Iceland and were well received, Mrs. Norton states.

Gladstone Defeats Marquette In Hardwood Thriller, 35 To 33

Braves Stage Rally To Nip Graveraets

Gladstone, Feb. 17—Minus the services of two feature performers, Shandonay and Trekas, the fighting Gladstone high school outfit had to come from behind repeatedly to trim Graveraet high of Marquette in a basketball thriller here tonight, 35-33.

The Braves trailed at halftime, 16-11, but whanged in 14 points in the third period to edge into a 25-24 lead. The Graverates held the lead at one point in the final quarter, but the Braves managed to tie things up at 31-all with two minutes left in the game.

Captain Holm connected with a free throw, then a field goal, and the Braves had a 34-31 lead. Keskey added two points for Marquette; then Holm sank another charity toss.

Brave Scrubs Win

In the preeliminary Gladstone registered another win, defeating the Marquette second stringers, 27-23.

Shandonay, only recently over a light attack of the measles, was ill again yesterday. Trekas found it his turn to catch the measles. Their absence forced Coach Eldon Keil to switch Holm, who scored a neat 17 points tonight, from forward to center, and Gabe from guard to forward.

It was a rough game, four of the invaders' regulars and Olson of the Braves being chased on the foul route in the last quarter.

MANY BASEBALL STARS SIGNED

All Clubs Suffering From Holdout Trouble, J. DiMag Not In Fold

BY JUDSON BAILEY

New York, Feb. 17, (AP)—Little has been heard of contract controversies in the major leagues this winter for various reasons, but a check today showed that many outstanding players still are unsigned on the eve of the training season.

Joe DiMaggio, who will be the highest salaried star in baseball this year, has returned his contract at least once without a signature. More amazing, perhaps, is the fact that only pitcher Lefty Gomez and shortstop Phil Rizzuto of all the regulars among the world champions have agreed to terms.

The New York Giants opened their training camp at Miami yesterday with no more than a dozen performers signed and several other clubs similarly have big groups of players outside the fold.

War Causes Woe

Not all the players unsigned are discontented. The war has posed so many more important problems for the magnates that some contracts were not mailed out until last week and a majority were not offered the players until the first week in February.

However, there are enough headaches to go around.

DiMaggio, who set a sensational record by hitting in 56 consecutive games last summer, leading the Yankees to the world championship and earning the most valuable player award for himself, reportedly was offered a contract for $37,500, the same amount he received last year. Most observers believe that he and President Edward G. Barrow of the Yanks will compromise on $ 40,000 with a minimum of argument.

Bonus arrangements, which some clubs have written into this year's contracts because of the uncertainty of attendance in war time, have caused some balks. A case in point is first baseman Dick Siebert of the Philadelphia Athletics, who, it is understood, wants a definite commitment in five figures.

Mike Kreevich and Bob Johnson also are unsigned among the A's.

Luke Appling, who alone of all the Chicago White Sox has not come to terms, presumably also is opposed to a bonus plan.

First baseman Elbie Fletcher is the only Pirate not signed and is reportedly at odds with the club over $2,000.

Old Bobo Sore

Bobo Newsom, among the Tigers, has been grumbling about a reported pay cut and pitchers John Gorsica and Paul (Dizzy) Trout have made open holdout declarations.

Relief pitcher Mike Ryba has notified the Red Sox that he is "dissatisfied with the contract terms but is still considering them."

The Indians have not yet signed Jeff Heath, Gee Walker, Hal Trosky and some others, but Trosky is the leading question mark. He has remained silent since his contract was mailed in January.

Eight of the Brooklyn Dodgers, National league champions, were unsigned when President Larry MacPhail left here by plane for Miami this morning, but he expected to have most of them lined up before the squad flies to Havana tomorrow.

Widener Handicap Race Wide Open

BY JOHN WILDS

Miami, Fla., Feb. 17 (AP)—A winter of upsets has made the $500,00 Widener handicap March 7 a wide open horse race—and even the experts may throw away their form charts and jab a pin in a program in trying to pick the winner.

Most of the hubbub has been raised over Alsab's two defeats and Challedon's disappointing performance, but not one of the other 54 eligible thoroughbreds has a season's record conspicuous enough to make him a favorite.

Almost every topnotch campaigner in the country is entered for the only big stake to be offered for older horses until the Massachusetts handicap is run in July.

Yet in 137 starts at Miami, Widener eligibles have won only 18 times. Up until today, they had 17 seconds and 19 thirds.

Rock Wins 10th Straight Clash In Nahma Appearance

Nahma, Feb. 17 — Rock high school ran its winning streak to 10 straight games here Monday night, steadily moving well in front to defeat Nahma, 35-22. In the preliminary encounter Rock reserves overwhelmed Nahma scrubs, 26-7.

War May Wreck Marquette Team

Milwaukee, Wis.—Uncle Sam and the war could interfere mightily with the plans for Marquette university's 1942 football team, according to a squad checkup this week.

Fifteen of the 16 probable returning lettermen registered for the draft last weekend. Thirteen of them are 20 years of age, and two more turned 21 since last summer's registration. Still under draft age is Hal Eigner, 18-year old veteran fullback.

Out of 32 sophomores expected on the 1942 Marquette squad, only three registered for the draft. One is 17 years of age, 12 are 18 years old and 16 are 19 years of age.

Thousands Flock To Winter Parks

Lansing, Feb. 17, (AP)—After a slow start due to unseasonably warm weather, winter sports activities in Lower Michigan state parks are increasing, conservation department officials said today, although current attendance figures still are some 10,000 less than last year.

Last week end's attendance of 9,250 at four Lower Michigan sports centers, Grayling, Rochester, Muskegon and Ludington, as second highest of the year, the year, the previous week end's 9,815 being high.

Short Shots on Sports

By Milton Plumb

We're famous.

Anyway, nearly famous. At least, we rank with football coaches, members of congress and the Allied forces in Asia as a topic of conversation and criticism.

Having finished our daily chores of hunt'n peck on the typewriter, we strolled into a restaurant Wednesday night in search of that popular American tidbit, hamburger with catsup. We were just in time, too, for an unscheduled double feature, thrown in at no extra cost.

You might call it a verbal doubleheader, but one man was doing all the pitching. You see, that individual whose head floated a halo created from the fumes of more than a few beers, was pitching for both sides. That is, we say for both sides, since his tongue and his clockworks were not in perfect synchronization and about half the time his arguments in favor of Team A sounded like support for Team B.

Anyway, the husky individual laboring under a cargo of giggle soup was right in there pitching, firing strikes at the principals involved in all subjects of conversation introduced by his apparently awed listeners—all of whom later explained they weren't awed; they were simply 'hors de combat', victims of the gas barrage laid down by the pitcher every time he opened his mouth to let the oratory and beer fumes roll out.

Fortunately, we stationed ourself at the opposite end of the counter where, before the gas rolled down to that point, we were able to order a hamburger, grab the catsup bottle and make a few notes on progress of the doubleheader. Twenty minutes and some seconds later (the seconds piled up while the portly pitcher was patting his tummy in an effort to keep it calm it in its battle to absorb the alky contained in the little brown bottles which had fortified him for his strenuous venture in the realm of conversation) we had some copious notes. Studying them carefully, wiping off the brown stains caused by the fumes which eventually reached the end of the counter and settled down like fog floating in off Green Bay, we found:

1. The Short Shot man was unfair to St. Joe.
2. The Short Shot man was unfair to Esky high.
3. The coaches were unfair to St. Joe and Esky high athletes.
4. The Short Shotter was unfair to the coaches. (We thought that certainly someone was unfair to us, but apparently not.)
5. True sports fans were going to ride the Short Shotter out of town on a rail.
6. Michigan congressmen were dopes; they couldn't persuade their fellow legislators to build additional locks at the Soo. B'Gad, he (portly pitcher) could do it if he was in congress.
7. Construction of canals and locks was a cinch. Anyone could do it.
8. The Allied forces in the East Indies couldn't punch their way out of a paper bag. How in the world did they expect to lick the Japanazis?. (We thought for a minute we were going to be labeled as unfair to congress, the Soo and the Allies).

The proprietor of the battle-front (pardon! The restaurant) was obviously embarrassed no little that old scribe "Unfair" was munching away contentedly on his hamburger at the other end of the counter and listening—chewing one minute and waving away the fumes the next. But we gave him the 'high sign"; it inferred "Let the battle rage" . . . . You can't argue with a pixilated individual who couldn't have hit the ground with his hat . . . . anyway, the clock finally ran down. That "clock" business in a figure of speech; actually, the restaurant clock couldn't stand the beer fumes—it gave one dispairing "whirr" and went silent . . . . Surprised that he was getting out of the groove, that occasionally he didn't sputter and lisp, the portly pitcher left the mound for the dugout and a few more beers.

The pitcher, the fans in the grandstand told us, is the father of a local high school athlete. No doubt, he went home (after those few more beers) and told his listeners how he "told the boys down at the restaurant a few things" . . . . about "fair play and good sportsmanship." And he'll tell the Short Shotter the same, too, if he ever meets him, or so the pitcher informed the boys at the restaurant . . . . and the boys at the restaurant are wondering if friend pitcher's family were able to stand up when he opened the dcor at home and the fumes rushed in . . . . He can meet me at my office, but I hope he notifies me first—so I can open the windows.

Duluth Jumper Wins Ski Crown At New London

New London, Conn., Feb 17 — Billy Anderson, Duluth, Minn., won the Class A title in New London Ski club's annual jumping championships Sunday. Roy Laramie, Iron Mountain, Mich., after jumping to within one foot of Torger Tokle's local 169-foot record, traveled 172 feet on his second jump, but fell.

2. Martin Wingness, Chicago, 150-157—139.5.
3. Roy Laramie, Iron Mountain, Mich., 167-172F—112.

Class B

1. Ralph Thorsen, Chicago, 155-160—149.3.
2. Herb Feddick, Duluth, 147-151—152.
3. Warren Farley, Ishpeming, Mich., 142-154—138.5.

Senior

1. Arthur Narowitz, Chicago, 140-137—135.6.
2. Jonas Bestul, Milwaukee-Oconomowoc, 106-111—113.6.
3. Ingvar Arneson, New London, 152-158—109.5.

Class C

1. Ray Krause, Duluth, 151-155—141.6.
2. Kenneth Oja, Ishpeming, 147-147-156—137.8.
3. Herbert Miron, Iron Mountain, 137-141—135.5.

Anderson won on "form points", Martin Wingness, Chicago, twice outjumped him.

JR. BASEBALL HALTED

Lansing, Feb. 17 (AP)— The junior baseball program of the National Youth Administration, in which 8,000 Michigan boys participated last summer, has been discontinued for the duration, it was announced today by Orrin W. Kaye, state director.

GLADSTONE SKI PARK DESCRIBED

Forest Service Booklet Lists Sports Area As One of the Best

U. S. Forest Service is doing its part in attracting midwestern skiers to Gladstone Winter Sports Park.

A ful page of the Forest Service's new booklet, "Winter Sports in the National Forests of the Lakes States," is devoted to the Gladstone park. The location, parking facilities, ski slopes and trails, planned ski jump, toboggan chute, shelters, first aid, equipment—all are described in the blue and white booklet which contain descriptions of all Forest Service winter sports areas in the Upper Peninsula.

The winter sports areas of the Lakes States described in detail are:

1. Caberfae area, Lower Peninsula, Manistee Forest.
2. Newaygo Lakes area, Lower Peninsula, Manistee Forest.
3. Silver Valley, Lower Peninsula, Huron Forest.
4. Gladstone, Upper Peninsula, Hiawatha Forest.
5. Porcupine Mountains, Upper Peninsula, Ontonagon.
6. Mt. Valhalla, Wisconsin, Chequamegon Forest.
7. Spur Lake, Wisconsin, Chequamegon Forest.
8. Parkinstown, Wisconsin, Chequamegon Forest.
9. Anvil Lake, Wisconsin, Nicolet Forest.
10. Shingobee, Minnesota, Chippewa Forest.

Others Listed

Other winter sports areas, while not in national forests, are listed. They include:

Munising playground, Superior Hills at Marquette, Ishpeming, Pine Mountain at Iron Mountain, Ripley area at Hancock and Houghton, all in the Upper Peninsula; Grayling, Lower Michigan; Land O'Lakes, Wisconsin; Bessemer and Wakefield, Mt. Zion and Caspian, Upper Peninsula; Rib Mountain at Wausau and Machickanee, both in Wisconsin; Two Harbors and Iron Bowl, both in Minnesota.

The new booklet contains a list of "Do's" and "Dont's" embracing most of the essential instructions for new skiers. They are:

"Do These"

Drive carefully; use tire chains.

Park your car so others will not be blocked.

Consider the safety and enjoyment of others by learning to ski in safe control.

Fill your "chuck hole" (sitzmark) after a landing.

Be ready and willing to help beginners.

Bring your own ski wax.

Keep your equipment in proper adjustment.

Help pack the hills and trails when needed.

Don't Do These

Wear loose clothing when riding ski tows.

Expect others to get out of your way. It is up to you to safely miss beginners and persons skiing slowly, climbing or standing on the hills.

Stand and converse on the trails or the hills. Ski to one side first.

Walk on the ski trails or hills. Footprints can be dangerous.

Yell "Track" unless the trail ahead is invisible. It is unfair to ask others to get out out of your way.

"Schuss," unless you are sure of being able to miss other persons on the hill and reasonably sure of landing right-side-up at the bottom.

Ski alone. You might be hurt and have no one to help you. Rescue expeditions are always harrowing.

Bring dogs to the ski hills. Their presence introduces an extra and serious hazard to skiers.

Leave papers or other refuse on the hills or trails. Think how it will look when the snow is gone.

Gladstone Popular

In 1939-40, according to the Forest Service, 26,200 persons visited the Gladstone winter sports area. Figures for 1940-41 were not available, but the Forest Service said the total was about the same as the previous year.

Starting Young

Gene Hebert, Jr., one and one-half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hebert, Lake Shore Drive, was the youngest child on skates at the novice speed skating meet last week. He had no competitors for that honor and he amazed the spectators with his ability to toddle about on the steel blades.

SKI CLUB OPEN EVERY EVENING

Mrs. E. J. Kallio, operator of concessions at the Escanaba Sports Park clubhouse, last night announced that beginning today, the clubhouse at the ski park will open at 6 o'clock each evening

The clubhouse also will be open on Saturday and Sunday afternoonz. It will be open on other afternoons by appointment and parties wishing to use the facilities on such afternoons should contact Mrs. Kallio, Telephone 1531-M.

Hot sandwiches and coffee will be available at the clubhouse kitchen during the hours the clubhouse is open, with Lenten sandwiches a specialty. Music is available for dancing.

Yale Swimmers To Face U-M Team

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 17, (AP)—The Yale swimming team, its schedule streamlined by cancellation of a meet Feb. 23 with Wayne university, leaves Thursday afternoon for its important test Saturday against the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. The Yale squad plans a workout in Michigan's pool Friday.

Coach Bob Kihuth said today that the Wayne meet had been dropped at the request of the Detroit school which has been hit hard by the draft.

Pros Optimistic, But Simon Pures Great Pessimists

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

New York, Feb. 17 — (Wide World)—It looks like they might have to put extra pockets on the Major League first divisions this year to hold all the clubs which promise to travel along with the upper crust.

Just recently we have noted three quotations from players or managers, all three statements garnished with unadulterated optimism, to wit:

Rick Ferrell — The Browns should finish in the first division this year.

Al Simmons — The Athletics should finish in the first division this year.

Mel Ott — The Giants should finish in the first division this year.

The funny part about these bursts of originality is that all may be right, the future being as uncertain as it is. There is nothing more uncertain than baseball, unless it is a blend of baseball and war, in which case it isn't only a question of where a team will finish, but if it will finish.

We can expect a steady drip of these priceless quotations now that the training season is at hand, as every barnyard oracle who has his name on a roster will be asked what he thinks of his club's chances, and will spout corny phrases to the effect it will be up there close to the top, even though he's been out hunting and hasn't seen a newspaper for two months. We know. We've quoted them ourselves.

Amateurs Different

But what could you expect them to say? As they say, a silly question deserves a silly answer, and asking a ball player what his club's outlook is really is a silly question, as there is only one answer possible. Or at least discreet.

About three years ago Oscar Vitt was condemned as everything from a quitter to a disgrace to the game for expressing the opinion the Yankees were unbeatable and in a class by themselves. It made no difference that what he said was true as gospel and he was just bringing to light the concealed thoughts of the other baseball men. He just shouldn't have said it, that's all.

That's the difference between professional and amateur sports. For an amateur to drool words of praise for his team, interspersed with a few choice remarks concerning the corner-lot quality of the opposition, wouldn't be cricket and the drooler would be marked down as a braggart who should have his ears pinned back.

This is particularly true in football, where the coaches spend their time on the shady side of the barn and never see a ray of sunlight, even though they are sitting on the best material they ever had and are pretty sure they can use the third team to mop up most of the opposition.

Annually Bernie Bierman has bemoaned his losses and painted a bleak picture of the future, and almost annually Bernie Bierman has come up with unbeatable teams. Frank Leahy could see nothing but the hole in the doughnut when he took over at Notre Dame, but Frank Leahy came up with an undefeated team last fall.

ESKYS, TROJANS HAVING TROUBLE

Measles Bench Ranguette and Finger Injury Is Girsch's Woe

Both Escanaba and St. Joseph high school teams struck bits of ill luck this week, each losing the services of a regular a few days before important engagements.

For the Eskymos it was the loss of Bob Ranguette, stellar sophomore forward and their second leading scorer. Coach Jim Rouman yesterday reported his star pivot-shot man had a case of the measles and would be lost to the Eskys for their game with Manistique here Friday night.

For the Trojans at St. Joe the jinx took the form of an infected finger on a hand of Nick Grisch, little guard whose ball handling, defensive play, and, above all, his steadying influence on the team as a whole, are most valuable. Grisch missed the Trojans' last two workouts and likely will not play against St. Paul of Negaunee here Thursday night.

Al Kidd, lanky senior, got the call at Ranguette's spot in the Eskymos' drill yesterday. At the St. Joe gym VanEnkevort replaced Grisch in the lineup.

Realize Danger

Manistique enters the clash with Escanaba in the role of underdog, but Coach Reque has a tall squad which on occasion this year showed promise of becoming one of the peninsula's best teams. While Kidd is a capable performer and good shot, the loss of Ranguette might unsettle the Eskymos' offense and be a factor in breaking the locals' win streak at 11 straight.

Rouman yesterday commended those members of his squad who have free throw averages above the .500 level, urging them to "keep up the good work." Among those who have had more than 10 free cracks at the hoop, Bobby Anderson (10 for 14), Ranguette (23 for 39) and Captain Ed Gauthier (21 for 38) are setting the percentage pace.

The loss of Grisch interferes with the plans of the Trojans more than a little. With four wins and seven losses on their sheet, the Trojans of Coach Carl Kant close their pre-tournament season against three relatively weak teams and have a chance to finish their schedule with an even .500 average.

Rangers' Ace Top Puckwalloper

Montreal, Feb. 17 (AP)—Bryan Hextall, scrappy righthander of the New York Rangers, started his ninth week at the top of the National hockey league's individual scoring race today.

His total of 45 scoring points, 21 goals and 24 assists, was four more than he had a week ago.

Pat Egan of Brooklyn continued unchallenged at the top of the penalty bracket with 76 minutes spent in the box.

| Player | Club | G | A | Pts. |

Farewell Party For Boys

Trenary, Mich. — Four boys from Osier, a few miles south of Trenary will leave for the Marines March 2nd. They are Ernest and Richard La Fond, both sons of Mr. and Mrs. Louis La Fond; Orille Chenial, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chenial Sr., and Norman Lancour, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lancour, all of Osier.

Mrs. La Fond is sponsoring a farewell party for all four boys at the La Fond school house at Osier, Saturday evening, February 28th.

A good orchestra will furnish music for dancing and a free lunch will be served.

Everybody is welcome.

Anniversary Party Held at Traunik

Saturday evening, about two hundred neighbors from Traunik, Trenary and Limestone gathered at the Traunik Hall and had a surprise party for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oberstar Sr., who live on a farm a few miles north of Trenary. The occasion being their 30th wedding anniversary.

The evening was spent dancing and tables were served in the basement kitchen for about two hundred guests.

The couple received many very nice and valuable gifts.

Miss Ruth Ylinen who is employed in Marquette, spent the week end at the homes of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Ylinen at Kiva and her sister, Mrs. Alfred Pasanen here.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Frelick and daughter, of Gwinn, spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Frelick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Etsel Shepley at Osier.

Mr. and Mrs. Nielo Ahala and boys of Amasa spent the week end here calling on relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Nestor Orava and son Jackie, were dinner guests at the C. R. Little home, Sunday.

Miss Helmi Hytinen has returned to her home here after spending a week in Princeton and Gwinn at the homes of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Kenneth Brill is able to be out again after being confined to her home for the last three months with a back ailment.

Mr. Frank Richmond and Elwyn Hawley motored to Gladstone Sunday to bowl.

Mrs. Frank Richmond has returned to her home here after spending several weeks at the home of her sister, who is ill at Flint.

A Valentine program was given by Mrs. Gundry's fourth and fifth grade room for the school Friday forenoon and in the afternoon each room had their separate parties.

"Food For Freedom"

Canvass Your Community for Unused Garden Tools

By NEA Service

With the greater part of the nation's production of metal diverted to war needs, less and less is being made available for civilian use, so that metal gardening implements may become more expensive and may possibly become hard to get at any price.

However, students planning a school war garden can overcome this limitation by starting a systematic hunt in their community to round up idle spades, hoes, rakes, wheelbarrows, watering cans, hand cultivators and other equipment neighbors might be willing to donate, loan, or rent to the school for the duration of the garden.

Of course, some of these "idle" garden tools may be idle simply because they are in poor condition. But boys in manual training and handicraft courses can recondition many broken down implements, and have them nearly as good as new by planting time. A new handle for rake or hoe, oil and grease for moveable parts, rust riddance, and fresh paint can do wonders in renovating garden tools.

WORKING OUT A BOOKKEEPING SYSTEM

Students on the supply committee will want to work out a system of bookkeeping, so that borrowed implements can be returned to their rightful owners in as good or in better condition than they were when borrowed.

Some of the tools, of course, the seed flats and cold frames that will be needed, as well as simple wheel barrows, tool boxes, convenient benches for sorting or may be brought from home by the student gardeners. Tools should be stored under cover and checked in and out to the children each gardening day so that none will be forgotten out in the garden to rust over-night in the rain.

At least a part of the gardening implements might well be made right in the school's workshop by the manual training classes. For instance, boys in woodworking classes might easily build all packing, and baskets or other containers.

Older girls in sewing classes might make some adaptable garden apparel — aprons, overalls, sunbonnets, or kneeling pads, or follow some of the special gardening outfit designs developed by the U. S. Bureau of Home Economics. County, State or Federal agricultural officials can provide more information about these designs.

GREATEST NEED IS FOR EXPERIENCED LEADER

In some cities and towns a group of gardening enthusiasts in a neighborhood may want to start a community war garden. Many problems of organization and management are similiar to those encountered with school gardens. The most important point is to have an experienced leader.

Just as students may pool their gardening implements and collect idle ones in the neighborhood for use in their school garden, so may an adult garden group pool their resources to use in a productive community garden.

In a community garden, seed, fertilizer and insecticides may be purchased in large quantities for economy, and may be used more efficiently than if each gardener in a community were to grow his own little back-yard garden.

PERUVIAN HORSEPOWER

Peru is estimated to have 4,500,000 potential horsepower in its waterways, of which less than 100,000 horsepower has been utilized.

WAL, HYAR AH IS,—READY T' PERFORM TH' CEREMONY FO' WHICH BIG BARNSMELL PAID ME IN ADVANCE! WHAR'S DAISY MAE?
SHE DISAPPEARED 'BOUT A MONTH AGO. SHE SAID SHE'D BE A-COMIN' BACK IN A MONTH— BUT THAR HAINT BIN A SIGN O' HER!!

RED RYDER — By Fred Harman

I'M ABOUT TUCKERED OUT TOO, LITTLE BEAVER — HAVE TO SHED THESE HEAVY CHAPS!
ME SICK THIRSTY!
AND OFF GOES THIS CARTRIDGE BELT! LEADS TOO HEAVY T' CARRY NOW—
—BUT I'LL JUST TUCK THE SIX-SHOOTER INSIDE MY TROUSERS— JUST IN CASE!
I THOUGHT WE'D NEVER FIND A WATER HOLE, DUCHESS— BUT WHY DOESN'T YOUR HORSE DRINK?
IT AIN'T FIT T' DRINK, BETH— THE HOSS KNOWS THAT— AND MISERY KNOWS WHERE WE'LL FIND ANOTHER SPRING!
OR WHERE WE'LL FIND RED AND LITTLE BEAVER!

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES — By Martin

—YOU MEANS—Y'GOT A SHO' NUFF P'POSAL FROM A SOLDIER BOY OFF IN A CAMP?
YEAH! BUT GET BACK ON TH' BEAM— I DIDN'T ACCEPT IT
BUT— —BUT— HOW COME?
DARNED IF I KNOW! I HAVEN'T SAID MUCH ABOUT MYSELF—BUT IN MY LAST LETTER I SENT 'IM A SNAPSHOT OF BOOTS—TAKEN OVER ON TH' BEACH LAST SUMMER
AWWWW, ME!
NOW, UNDERSTAND—I DON'T SAY SHE'S GOT ANYTHING I HAVEN'T GOT! I JUS' DON'T LIKE TH' IDEA OF SENDIN' MY PICTURE T'SOME GUY I NEVER SAW B'FORE!

WASH TUBBS — By Crane

LISKA HAS BEEN WORRIED, COMMANDER. NOW THAT YOU ARE SAFELY RETURNED, SHE WILL BE RELIEVED
LATER:
STRANGE! I TAKE APART EVEN THE CARTRIDGES ...THERE IS NOTHING
BUT SURELY THERE IS A HIDDEN MESSAGE! HE TRUSTS ME, THIS AMERICAN. HE TAKE ME INTO HIS ARMS AND WHISPER INTO MY EAR. HE TELL ME SO!
INSTEAD OF YOU MAKING FOOL OF THE AMERICAN, LISKA, HE MAKE A FOOL OF YOU! IS NO MESSAGE! HE LIE! HE TRICK US!

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS — By Blosser

GOSH! AND I THOUGHT YOU'D WANNA BOIL ME IN OIL FOR TAKING THAT POLICE CAR!
WHY SHOULD I? YOU DID THE DEPARTMENT A GOOD TURN!
BUT I PINCHED THE MAYOR'S BROTHER— AND HE THROWS A LOT OF WEIGHT AROUND!
SO DO THE TAXPAYERS— AND IF WE PLEASE THEM WE WIN OUR POINT!
HERE'S WHAT THE TRUMPET HAS TO SAY— "—AND THE MAYOR'S BROTHER PAID A FINE OF $25 FOR SPEEDING YESTERDAY!
"— AS LONG AS THE POLICE DEPARTMENT IS ON ITS TOES, WE DON'T CARE WHO ELSE'S TOES IT HAPPENS TO GET ON, SAID THE MAYOR!"
— WITH TONGUE IN CHEEK!

ALLEY OOP — By V. T. Hamlin

SO NOW YOU'RE GONNA BACK OUT ON ME, EH? I ALWAYS KNEW YOU WERE A COWARD! SCARED OF A FEW OL' PTERODACTYLS!
I AIN'T SCARED, AN' YOU KNOW IT! BUT THEM FLYIN' DINOSAURS AIN'T SAFE TO MESS AROUND WITH...
—AN' AS KING OF MOO IT'S MY BUSINESS TO PROTECT MY SUBJECTS, NOT EXPOSE THEM TO DANGER!!
A MOST PRAISE-WORTHY SENTIMENT, YOUR HIGHNESS! BUT OF COURSE IF THEY, THEMSELVES, SHOULD CHOOSE TO CARRY ON...
HMMPH! FAT CHANCE! BUT IN THAT CASE...
THERE—SEE HOW WRONG YOU WERE? NARY A ONE OF YOUR BRAVE MOOVIANS TURNED BACK!

Smack On The Lips Blamed For Crash

Mankato, Minn., Feb. 17 (AP)—A smack on the lips last August caused a loud echo in district court here six months later.

Beatrice Schoeb sued Wesley A. Volk for $600 for personal injuries sustained when a car in which they were riding rammed another machine. Volk's principal defense was that Miss Schoeb was kissing him when the crash occurred and that she therefore was guilty of contributory negligence. The jury listened to the romance details and then awarded Miss Schoeb $500.

Dickinson, N. D., Feb. 17 (AP)—J. D. Braden, Spearfish, S. D. lumber hauling contractor, takes this tire rationing business seriously.

When he lost an outside dual tire from his truck enroute here from the Black Hills, he drove to Spearfish and back, a distance of 300 miles, in fruitless search. Then he chartered an airplane and made the trip again, and located the tire in a field near the highway.

Montgomery, Ala., Feb. 17 (AP)—A Gunter field "top kick" was explaining to recruits the various opportunities for study offered at the air base.

"How many are good at shorthand?" he asked.

When about 30 hands went up, the sergeant continued:

"Report to the kitchen; we're shorthanded on KP's today."

Cleveland, Feb. 17 (AP)—Willis Thornton, 42-year-old editorial writer for the Newspaper Enterprise Association, a syndicate, commented today:

"I'm tired of writing editorials telling people to get in there and fight—I'm going to do something about it myself."

So he enlisted in the army, as a private.

Salt Lake City, Feb. 17 (AP)—Residents of suburban Holloday had the war jitters badly until they learned the reason for the gunfire echoing from nearby orchards during the night.

The state fish and game department simply had sent officers to chase away several hundred deer which had wandered down from the mountains and began chewing the tender bark and buds off the fruit trees. The shots were fired into the air.

Elgin, Ill., Feb. 17 (AP)—Edward P. Kubiak, 25, who was operated on at St. Joseph's hospital today for appendicitis discovered he also was suffering from "ap-pin-dicitis."

Surgeons found a two-inch bead headed pin imbedded in the appendix.

Officers Here Aid In Tracing Watch Lost In Gladstone

A ladies wrist watch valued at $200 was among the contents of a purse lost this week by Mrs. Paul Bushong, prominent Gladstone woman, and city police officers here checked local jewelers and other establishments yesterday in an effort to discover if the watch had been offered for sale or trade.

The timepeace is a gold 19 jewel Elgin and has 16 diamonds set in the end of its face. Its serial number is C-690641.

Other valuables carried in the lost purse included $56 in cash and a large sum in traveler's checks.

The state pawnshop at Paris pawned airplanes along with other items.

Attacks On New York Or Detroit Called Feasible

BY RICHARD L. TURNER

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP)—A blunt warning came from President Roosevelt today that an enemy attack on New York City or even Detroit was perfectly feasible.

The chief executive made this statement at a press conference, which also produced word that the delivery of lend lease supplies to Russia would be brought up to schedule in the next fortnight.

And, when asked for comment on the strategic value to the United States of a proposed new $1,000,000,000 loan to Russia, he said it should be considered in terms of dead Germans and smashed tanks.

The senate, meanwhile, was hearing assertions that under present conditions both the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards were vulnerable to attack.

Chairman Walsh (D-Mass) of the senate naval committee asserted the country must give attention to the "almost defenseless" position of the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coasts. He feared, he said, "the day may come when we will have to bring back our navy from the four corners of the earth simply to protect our shores."

Senator Johnson (R-Calif) charged, too, that there was "no adequate defense of the Pacific coast," and that "without that we're likely to see in the near future another Pearl Harbor."

The senators said these things in the course of a discussion of a $163,794,819 deficiency appropriation bill containing $100,000,000 for the office of civilian defense. It was passed and sent back to the house for consideration of amendments.

Mr. Roosevelt's warning about raids on American cities grew out of a discussion of the situation in Alaska. A reporter inquired whether the navy and air force at present were strong enough to prevent an attack on Alaska.

The president said they certainly were not, and added that under certain conditions New York could be shelled tonight and Detroit bombed tomorrow.

In addition, Mr. Roosevelt described as rot reports in Washington that the damage done by the Japanese at Pearl Harbor was greater than that reported by Secretary of the Navy Knox after his personal investigation of the extent of the damage.

The word r-o-t, he said spelling it out, was applicable to most of the rumors circulated in Washington. The town, he said, had become a rumor factory and he hoped his statement would sink in.

The senate passed the "camp doe" repeal bill and sent it to the house.

POLICE FUND HELD UP

Lansing, Feb. 17, (AP)—Acting upon advice of Governor Van Wagoner, the state administrative board today withheld action on a state police request for $48,864 for anti-subversive activities and fire work from the special $5,000,000 war fund, but allocated $894,345 to several other state agencies.

The governor said he wanted to study the state police request for funds to add 15 troopers to the subversive activities squad and to finance the fire division because, he said, the state police already had received $679,000 from the legislature, $179,000 more than the administration had recommended.

Today's allocations by the administrative board included: $672,937 to the state military establishment to equip and pay state troops and carry on other activities; $196,408 to the state health laboratories for police and fire protection, blood tests for draftees, production of tetanus toxoid for children and defense workers and similar work; $10,000 to the labor mediation board; and $15,000 to pay salaries and buy uniforms for additional watchmen for the state capitol and office building, and to provide other protective measures.

Eviction Threatened

Frank Cody, Detroit superintendent of schools, told the board in a letter $950,000 would be needed from the fund to train war industry workers in the Detroit area alone. He said 82,000 workers have been trained, 25,000 are in classes, and 350,000 more must be trained in the next few months.

The board discovered the Vultee Consolidated Aircraft corporation of Dearborn has threatened to evict a class for training aircraft workers from one of its buildings, because it wants to use the structure for experimental work. The Vultee corporation has given state or local government until the first of March to leave, or buy the building at a price of $60,000.

Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state and head of the defense committee of the board, said he notified an official of the company in California he wanted a conference on the subject quickly, and mentioned condemnation proceedings against the building.

Spartans Win Wrestling Meet From Nebraska

East Lansing, Feb. 17 (AP)—Michigan State College's wrestling team won its fifth dual meet in six starts here tonight with a 21-10 decision over the University of Nebraska. The Spartans swept the first five bouts, registering two falls.

The summary:

121 pounds—Chester Simpson (State) defeated Meyer Ueoka, decision, 6 to 0.

128 pounds — Merle Jennings (State) pinned Frank Messersmith, 1:08 (reverse Nelson and bar arm).

136 pounds — Burle Jennings (State) defeated Ken Miller, decision, 26 to 6.

145 pounds — William Maxwell (State) defeated Newton Copple, decision, 15 to 3.

155 pounds—Leland Merrill (State) defeated Kenneth Husemoller awarded fall by referee, stalling.

165 pounds — Ed Copple (Nebraska) and Johnny Marrs (State) draw, overtime, 5 to 5.

175 pounds—Nick Douvas (Nebraska) pinned John Spalink, 56 seconds, arm and head lock.

Heavyweight — Herb Jackman (Nebraska) defeated Mike Dendriinos, decision, 6 to 2.

Home Ec Leaders In County To Have Meetings This Week

Three meetings for county home economics leaders, the first today, will be held this week under the direction of Miss Helen Strow, Marquette, assistant state home demonstration leader. The making and use of dress forms will be the subject of the demonstration meetings.

Today's session will be held at 1:30 o'clock at the Garden community hall. The Thursday meeting will be at 9:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. I. R. Nelson in Bark River and Friday's session will be at the Kipling school at 1:30 o'clock.

Title Hopes Fade For Lew Jenkins After Servo Bout

Philadelphia, Feb. 17 (AP)—Taking one of the worst beatings in his career, his face a gory mess of blood from cuts over both eyes and a bloody nose, Lew Jenkins saw his hope of regaining the lightweight boxing championship sink tonight when Marty Servo punched out a decisive 10-round decision over the ex-titleholder before 8,000 at the Arena.

Jenkins, stung with a left to the body soon after the opening bell, was on the defensive throughout. Only his good condition kept him from being knocked out.

Round and round Jenkins was backed in the ropes and staggered from lefts to the head and hard rights to the body, but only in the seventh did he go down. He was floored by a particularly savage left and crumpled in a heap in a corner with his legs buckled under him. He took a count of nine, but managed to get up and go the distance.

Broncos Upset Alma, 48 to 42

Kalamazoo, Mich., Feb. 17 (AP)—Western Michigan College snapped Alma's 15-game winning streak tonight with a 48 to 42 victory over the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association champions that also avenged an early season defeat.

It was the Scots' first loss to a collegiate foe this year. They had not been defeated since dropping a one-point decision in the opening game of the season to Bay City Y. M. C. A.

Gensichen, who scored 25 points on ten field goals and five free throws to run his season total to 351 in 17 games, clinched victory with two baskets in the last few minutes after Alma had pulled up to within two points of deadlocking the count at 41-39.

PETOSKEY GETS MEET

Petoskey, Mich., Feb. 17 (AP)—A plan to stage the second annual Michigan high school ski meet, originally scheduled at Petoskey but cancelled because of poor snow conditions, at Cadillac under auspices of Cadillac high school, was approved today by officials of Petoskey high school. Date of the meet was not announced.

BOBO BOMBARDS

Pittsburgh, Feb. 17 (AP)—Harry Bobo, Pittsburgh's Bible reading negro heavyweight with ambitions of taking over Joe Louis' crown, knocked out Texas Jack Marshall in 2:27 of the third round of a 10-round bout tonight. Bobo weighed 209; Marshall 186½.

Dr. Hirn Honored At K. of C. Program

One of a series of programs honoring past grand knights of the Escanaba Knights of Columbus council was held last night, honoring Dr. Fred Hirn. The former grand knight also served as chairman of the meeting, with Bob McKindle as co-chairman. Entertainment included three selections by the sophomore girls' ensemble from Escanaba high school under the direction of Miss Agnes Wedaee; the showing of two motion picture sound films, "Scout Trails To Citizenship" and "City of Little Men"; also community singing led by Bert Henne, with Miss Joan Lindsay as accompanist. Supper was served to conclude the program by Emil L'Heureux, lecturer of the council, and his corps of assistants.

A record 125-pound king salmon was caught at Point Colpoys, near Petersburg, Alaska. Its meat filled more than 100 cans.

West Virginia supplies about 24 per cent of the coking coal consumed by the American steel industry.

News From Boys In The Service

Earnest H. Deiter, son of Chester Deiter, 620 N. 19th St., who enlisted in the army on January 6, 1942, has been assigned to Flight A, 565th, Technical School Squadron at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., where he is in training.

Dartmouth Student Completes Survey; To Leave Tonight

Kelley Wehnes, Dartmouth college political science student who has been making a study of the city manager form of government here during the past several months, has completed his survey and will return to his school at Hanover, N. H., tonight.

Wehnes made the survey here on a scholarship fund. He will complete his course at Dartmouth in June and tentatively plans to continue his studies next summer in Washington, D. C.

Two More Youths Enlisted In Army Here This Week

Two more Delta county youths were enlisted here this week in the U. S. Army. They are Mark N. Valind, 22 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Valind, 605 Stephenson Ave., who enlisted in the quartermaster corps, and George M. Dahl, 23 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lauritz Dahl of 1120 Montana Ave., Gladstone who enlisted in the signal corps.

Recruiter Corp. Joel McSparin said that enlisted men are classified according to the civilian work they have done and in respect to the education they have had so that skilled men are virtually certain of being placed in the branch of service where their particular skill can be utilized. Young untrained men, on the other hand, he said, will have an opportunity to learn a trade best suited to their particular aptitudes. These men, according to Corp. McSparin, may choose the branch of service they are most interested in and they may also have their choice of location.

Complete information about army opportunities may be had from Corp. McSparin any day at his office in room 218 of the Postoffice building here.
